GENEVA, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Two of Italy's neighbors and sympathizers, Austria and Hungary, stepped forward tonight to throw a monkey wrench into League of Nations machinery rolling toward sanctions against the fascist nation.
Those two voices rang out in defense of Italy in a strange twilight session of the League assembly which was suddenly adjourned without definite action.

Critical Session Today.
League observers, however, expected an overwhelming majority of the 56 assembly members to rally to the cause of sanctions at a critical session tomorrow.

The first speaker will be Baron Pompeo Aloisi, head of the Italian delegation, who is expected to denounce strongly the action of the League council in indicting Italy as an aggressor against Ethiopia and a violation of the covenant.

Any other opponents of the council's indictment will then be called upon to speak, along with those who wish to make reservations for their respective governments.

Austria's Friendship.
Shortly after the historic meeting of the assembly, which had been called into urgent session, was opened, Baron Aloisi, of Austria, announced to the tense delegates:

"Austria cannot forget that in a fateful moment of her history Italy contributed to safeguard her integrity. The links that bind the Austrian people to the people of Italy are strong. Austria will not fail in a

ETHIOPIAN SOUTHERN FIELD
HEADQUARTERS, NEAR JIJIGA,
BY COURIER TO HARAR, Oct. 9.
(11 A. M.)—(UP)—Heavy fighting started yesterday on the southern Ogaden front where strong Italian columns, invading Ethiopia from Italian Somaliland, attacked Ethiopian outposts in the fortified area of Garra-hau and elsewhere.
Meanwhile at Rome it was announced General Salim's column today advanced slightly to the south and nearly the village of Depression in an advance on the important town of Makale, southeast of Adigrat.
The Ethiopian army admitted heavy losses and continued to affirm that the Italians are using gas and chemicals.
Object of the Italian drive apparently was a line through Jijiga and Ha-rar to the important railway junction at Dire Dawa which is approximately half way between Djibouti and Addis Ababa. If this rail point is captured and traffic stopped Addis Ababa will be isolated.

HAILE CLAMPS GAG ON WARFARE NEWS

All Sectors Quiet as Ethiopian Army Girds for Renewal of Fighting.

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 9.—(AP)— Reports filtering through the natural defenses of Ethiopia's northern front told this war-torn capital tonight the wily warriors of Haile Selassie had struck with ago-old goal to trap
the modern weapons of Italy's armies.
A conscription of all outgoing telegrams was begun today by three Belgian military aides to the Negus and foreign correspondents were ordered to limit their dispatches to 100 words daily hereafter.

Lacking news of actual fighting from any sector, the Negus' subjects talked feverishly of the exploits of their guerrilla bands on the Adwa-Aksum front.

Reports to Reuters' (British) correspondents here said Italy, after six days of fighting, held three key points in Ethiopia: Adwa, Adigrat and Ak-sum. Fall of the latter, however, was not confirmed from other sources. It is the holy city of ancient Abyssinia and the site of the shrine of the Biblical Ark of the Covenant.

The Reuters reports said Ethiopian losses in the north were small, however, Ras Seyoum, the northern commander, was described as in urgent need of rifles and ammunition, although it was reported that underground Americans had presented the emperor with two airplanes which are to be shipped soon from New York.

(Under the United States neutrality law, such a shipment is prohibited.)

In the southeast, said exchange telegraph reports, Italian airplanes were sighted over Awash, on the Franco-Ethiopian railway. They dropped no bombs, the dispatch added.

There were earlier advances, purportedly from Ras Seyoum, of success in the maneuvers of three Ethiopian forces against the Italian right

AUTO DEATH RATE MOUNTS STEADILY ON NATION'S ROADS

U. S. Mortality Figures Reveal Need for Constitution's Campaign.
Thousands Join Drive.

Out of every hundred thousand people in the United States, 24 were killed in automobile accidents during the year ending September 28 last, according to figures compiled by the Department of Commerce of the United States Bureau of the Census at Washington.

The exact death rate per 100,000 was 23.5, which compares with a rate of 23.5 for the previous 12 months.
For the later period, 8,888 people were killed on the streets and highways, while the previous 52 weeks saw 8, 755 dead from this cause.

Every driver of an automobile can do his or her part to reduce this awful mortality figure which is caused, in more than 90 per cent of the cases, by careless, thoughtless or reckless driving.

The Safe Driving pledge, published in this issue of The Constitution, is the answer of the Safety Council of this paper to the challenge of death at least for Atlanta and Georgia. If every motorist will sign this pledge and live up to it, the result will be a decline in accidents and a reduction, by more than three-fourths, of the automobile fatalities in this state.

1,000 Recruits Join Army.

More than 1,000 recruits in the for highway safety joined The Constitution army yesterday when 1,004 pledges were signed. Some of these were for large groups while others were for individuals. The pledges were signed at the headquarters of Atlanta Leandries, for instance, signed up 100 per cent for all truck drivers, drivers of company or personal cars, and 500 pledges. Other large groups included the Hartford Fire Insurance Company, the personnel of the Works Progress Administration and the American Bakers.

The Atlanta Chamber of Commerce in its weekly bulletin, devoted space to the safe driving campaign, urging all its members to sign.

"With the mounting rate of automobile accidents, the bulletin says, 'it is imperative that the public be educated in safe driving practices.'"

TALMADGE PLANS TO WELCOME F. D. R.

Governor, Omitted From Program, Says He'll
Make F. D. R. Welcome

Advised in New York yesterday that he had been left out of the program for the Roosevelt homecoming celebration, Governor Eugene Talmadge declared that he would not let this opportunity pass him by.

"It is good to have come to New York, but the best thing to have is a unified people—a people of one heart and one purpose. We are not fighting to free other human beings. We are giving life to the people."

Other excerpts of his address were:
"The strife and quarrels which we see all about us have disappeared from Germany. For our enemies national socialism is partly a problem of force, for many a problem of power, for others a matter of reason, but for us a matter of heart."

"The philosophy of thinkers is the instinct of the broad masses."
"The Nazi ideal for society is an unbounded and powerful reality on which depends the people's existence."

Avoid 'Sanctions,' Cobb Tells U. S.

CARMEL, Cal., Oct. 9.—All we have to do is the dispatches, which remain until a nation finds its way back to idealism. The Nazis fought idealism and brought the nation to a peak.

Referring to the Italo-Ethiopian conflict, he commented:

HUGE SUMS PAID TO A. L. SHUSHAN, WITNESSES AVER

Government Charges
Long Aid Failed To List Dredging Income for Federal Taxation.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 9.—(AP)—
The government, through two of its "key" witnesses, charged today at the income tax trial of Abraham L. Shushan that the defendant received thousands of dollars which he did not report in his income tax returns, from New Orleans lake front development under a "rebate" agreement.

Shushan, president of the Orleans Levee Board under whose supervision the lake front improvements were made, is being tried under a 10-count indictment charging attempted evasion of income taxes for the years 1929-1933, inclusive.

Today's session, the second of the trial, was consumed entirely by the testimony of Claude Cummins, president, and C. R. Birch, treasurer of the Standard Dredging Company, of New York, which executed dredging contracts for the Shushan municipal airport and the Lake Pontchartrain seawall.

Shushan Paid In Full.
Both testified that the Standard Dredging Company "carried out in full" an agreement under which Shushan received two cents per cubic yard for dredging done from the levee board.

In the case of the airport, Birch testified that Shushan's alleged "rebate" amounted to approximately $120,000, figured, he said, on a basis of 6,400,000 cubic yards of sand and dirt pumped into the fill of the $4-million Longview levee break ago.

Details of the alleged transactions, covering the period fixed in the indictment and because they were uncontested, were related by the two witnesses, who both said they accepted the "rebate" agreement because their company was in dire need of the revenue from Longview levee projects.

Court Is Reopened.
Cummins was subjected to a severe cross-examination by Defense Counsel Hugh M. Wilkinson, but Judge Wilson H. Barrett recessed court until 9:30 a. m. tomorrow before the gov-

U. S. RELIEF PLAN HIT BY TALMADGE

Governor, Omitted From
Make F. D. R. Welcome

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(AP)—With gesticulation and perspiration, Governor Eugene Talmadge, of Georgia, told a dignified board of trade "unchen-today that the government is "gambling with God and playing a losing game" by its crop restrictions and that it is stifling religion by its relief activities.

Wearing a gray checked suit which hid his famous red suspenders, the Governor kept his audience laughing and applauding for more than an hour with homely thrusts at President Roosevelt and the New Deal.

With him on the dais was Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state in the Wilson administration, an invitation to sit as a distinguished guest on a stage which will adjourn the speaker's platform.

Commenting further on the action of the delegation, the Governor said:
"It is just like when we were little boys, but not so much with the boys, but with the girls. They would say
'Let's give a party but we won't give it.'"

Details of the actual program set, Erle Coker, who was named by the congressional delegation as its general manager, said.

Columbia Fellowship Awarded Blind Honor Graduate of Tech

Totally blind since early childhood, Clifford Martin Wither, of Atlanta, honored graduate of Georgia Tech in 1934, has been awarded the William Pettit Trowbridge fellowship in engineering by Columbia University, it was learned here yesterday. Carrying a grant of $800, the fellowship will enable the 21-year-old Atlanta to work for a Ph. D. degree in physics, mathematics and theoretical electrical engineering.

His mother, Mrs. R. C. Wither, who resigned her position as a teacher in the public schools of Atlanta to accompany her son to Columbia, is his guide and mentor, helping him about his campus and reading aloud his textbooks.

Wither entered Georgia Tech in 1930, and upon graduation received the Columbia fellowship.

FORMER OFFICIALS TO FACE JURY QUIZ

1934 Commissioners To Be Questioned; Johnson
Charges Are Denied.

Possibility that three former county commissioners, who served on the board during 1934, will be summoned before the special grand jury committee investigating the commission, was being discussed last night as Chairman H. G. King announced that special presentments will be returned by the grand jury next week before the final recommendations are made public.

Efforts to locate Walter Stewart, former commissioner, were being made and Chairman King said if he could appear, then former Commissioners
Paul S. Etheridge and Walter C.
Hendrix will be called this morning.

Also scheduled to appear today are fore King's group is Fred Woodall, insurance agent whom Commissioner Edwin E. Johnson charged was required to split commission on county insurance business with A. P. Smith, leader of the majority faction.

A parade of witnesses testified before the committee yesterday. They included four of the five members of the county board. The committee investigated the five charges Johnson lodged against Longview week ago.

Commissioner Johnson, Dr. C. R. Adams, chairman of the board; Commissioner Ed L. Almond, J. H. Longino, factor of the commission; Al Martin, well-known automobile dealer and a prominent figure in county politics;
F. H. Redwine, former chairman of the board of commissioners of old Campbell county; A. P. Smith, of the
A. P. Smith Insurance Agency, and M. A. Fuller, representing the Anthony Buick Company, were among those who offered testimony yesterday.

Linder Letter Presented.
Johnson's letter, presented yesterday by Tom Linder, commissioner of agriculture, declaring that Louis Crawford, former United States representative, was not fired from his office, but left voluntarily, and to the "other letter concerning the opposition of the majority faction to the legislature and because they were in-receipt of a letter from the City and County Public Service Employees' Association, signed by President Fred Stephens and Secretary Walter C.
Carraway, saying that the association felt the bill would be detrimental to the employees."

The majority leader had told the jurors he never wrote a letter opposing the civil service bill but he later found that such a letter had been written and his name signed by authority of other majority commissioners. He declared he was in favor of the bill.

Homicides in Atlanta 84 for 1935 to Date

Atlanta homicides yesterday vied with those of Memphis as the city piled up a total of 84 this far for the year against a total of 105 for last year.

Memphis had a total of 83 thus far for the year and was heading toward the former all-time record for that city of 105, established in 1932.
C. C. Brooks, secretary to Chief of Police T. O. Sturdivant, provided the Atlanta figures. Pistols accounted for the violent deaths of 43 persons.
Knives, as the result of which 26 met death, were the next popular lethal weapons as disclosed by the record.

Two died of alcohol poisoning in Atlanta, three from ice pick stabs, one from a blow delivered by a fire poker, one as the result of being stabbed with a pair of scissors, one from a rifle wound, one from an ax blow and four from unknown causes.

No traffic accident deaths were listed by Brooks, but deaths from that cause in the city have reached the total of 37.

Atlanta's population, according to the 1930 census, is 253,366, while that of Memphis is 253,143.

BOARD OF PARDONS PLEA IMPROBABLE

Defense Lawyer Admits
He Holds Little Hope for New Trial in Brutal Kidnap-Slaying.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 9.—(AP)—
The death sentence, imposed on Bruno Richard Hauptmann for the kidnap-murder of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., was unanimously upheld today by the court of errors and appeals, leaving him only three very doubtful avenues of escape from the electric chair.

Supreme Court Justice Thomas W.
Trenchard will fix a new execution date for Hauptmann and unless his lawyers successfully pursue one of the three courses open, the stoical German carpenter will pay the penalty decreed at Flemington by a jury of eight men and four women.

The 13 members of the court who voted to sustain the Flemington verdict wept aside every one of the legal points raised by Hauptmann's counsel, held that the trial was legally proper in every respect, and concluded that the verdict was "one to which the evidence inescapably led."

Bruno Receives News.
For the first time since he was arrested in the Bronx on September 18, 1934, Hauptmann today manifested anything approximating despair.
His present chief of counsel, C. Lloyd Fisher, broke the news to him in the death house.

"I never did this and surely they will find that out before it is too late," Hauptmann told Fisher. His first words, though, indicated a regard for his wife, Anna's, feelings.

"My God, what a fine anniversary present for Anna," he exclaimed. The Hauptmanns will have been married 10 years tomorrow.

Three Forlorn Hopes.
After the first shock, prison officials said, Hauptmann quickly recovered his customary calm and relaxed in the cell, the walls of which are liberally plastered with pictures of his wife and son, Martin.

Hauptmann's three forlorn hopes to beat death now are:
1. An appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

Sons of F. D. R. Unhurt In Auto-Train Crash

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—(AP)—An automobile in which James and John Roosevelt, sons of the President, were en route to East Boston airport collided tonight with a train in East Boston. The pair was taken to the Peter Bent Brigham hospital, where attendants said they were not injured.

Patrolman Henry Jones, of the Boston police, said police were called to the crossing where the accident occurred and that the entire front of the car had gone through the crossing gates and was struck by a train.

James Roosevelt was going to the airport to take a plane to New York, police said they were informed.

At the hospital, attendants said the Roosevelts had remained there only three minutes and had left for an undisclosed destination.

There was no one except James and John Roosevelt in the car.

ATLANTA IS NAMED CONFEDERATE LEADER

General Nash Is Elected State Commander at Adel Reunion.

ADEL, Ga., Oct. 9.—General J. M. Nash, of Atlanta, was elected commander of the Confederate Veterans of Georgia at the convention here today.

General Nash received 17 votes, while General A. J. Womack, of Macon, was second with 15.

Brigade division commanders were elected as follows:

North Georgia, General J. R. Jones, Atlanta; West Georgia, General J. A. McMichael, Jackson; south Georgia, General J. C. Herndon, Savannah, and east Georgia, General A. J. Womack, of Macon.

The reunion voted today to hold its next convention in Augusta and adopted a resolution urging that the Confederate Soldiers' Home in Atlanta be opened to widows of veterans.

A committee to further the matter of care of widows was named as follows: W. L. Grayson, Savannah; Mrs. A. O. Woodward, Atlanta, and J. H. Morris, Atlanta.

The reunion, which will end here tomorrow noon, heard an outline of the historical and philosophical situation of the south in the days prior to the War Between the States by Superior Court Judge Ogden Persons, of Forsyth.

Judge Persons said the constitution of the United States contained the substance of what the southern soldiers fought for, and the veterans cheered.

The resolution asking the state legislature to open the Soldiers' Home to widows of veterans was offered by Mrs. A. O. Woodward, of Atlanta. She suggested that some provision might be made also for housing needy Confederate veterans and their wives at the home.

The paper was supported by Dr. T. S. Clay, of Savannah, and others. B. H. Hardy, of Barnesville, presided at today's session in the place of his father, General J. P. Hardy, state commander, who said he was not feeling well.

A resolution asking Governor Talmadge to provide for payment of past pensions to veterans also was adopted.

Besides Commander Hardy, other prominent participants in the convention include General J. L. Driver, of Hapeville, past commander; General A. J. Womack, of Macon, and General William Harden, of Savannah.

A basket dinner was served the veterans by various Parent-Teacher associations of the county today, and tonight they were guests at an oyster supper. Thirty-eight veterans attended today's sessions.

Saying that the issues which brought on the War Between the States were of "constitutional growth," Judge Persons told the veterans that "it is certain that there would have been no constitution adopted if slavery had been prohibited.

Discussing the historical and philosophical aspects of the nation in the period preceding the war of the sixties, Judge Persons said the southern states were determined to hold onto their plantation system because agriculture was "their main industry."

Sought to Retire.

Therefore, he said, "when the anti-slavery sentiment became so strong in the north as to establish the 'underground railway' for the escape of runaway slaves, outlaw by legislation of the state legislatures, the fugitive slave laws by the federal government, and finally to elect Lincoln on a platform of denying them to enter the territories with their slaves under the protection of the national laws, they saw nothing else to do but withdraw from the Union as a matter of right and retire within their own boundaries."

Then followed the establishment of "a federation of southern states under the terms of the original constitution of the United States with slight changes as to tariffs and slavery and prohibition against internal improvements. Then when Lincoln called for an army to invade the south, there was nothing to be done but rally to the state governments which in their opinion had the first call for duty over that of an unsuccessful Union."

"And go to war we will if we trade with war. The munition makers, the bankers, and those who have reaped huge profits in the last war."

The Peace Society opened its meeting here today, and will hold another session tomorrow. Rev. John Tate, of Athens, is chairman of the society. Besides Mr. Tate and Miss Rankin, Miss Virginia Smith, president of the International Relations Club, at Georgia State College for Women, and Miss Roberta Hodgson, of the University of Georgia faculty, also were speakers on tonight's program.

I prefer to take them with war."

The Georgia crop reporting service, in estimating a Georgia crop of 1,078,000 bales on the basis of conditions and information at hand on October 1, says the yield of lint per acre should run about 230 pounds, against an average of 220 in 1934, and 246 in 1933. The 10-year average yield, 1924-1933, was 190 pounds per acre.

There are 2,240,000 acres which the crop reporting service estimates will be harvested this year.

Damage to cotton, especially to the quality of grade, was reported in south Georgia, due to rains.

"During early September storms in the extreme south, and heavy rains over southern and middle Georgia were responsible for some damage to that part of the crop still unopened, especially to quality of grade," the report said.

"After general rains in this territory ceased, about the middle of the month, weather was favorable and picking in the southern and lower mid-state areas was practically over on report date, and unusually well advanced in the northern area. Very little cotton is yet to open even in northern counties."

WAR LOANS OPPOSED BY PEACE ADVOCATE

Miss Rankin Urges State Society To Work "Against War."

SANDERSVILLE, Ga., Oct. 9.—(P)—A demand that the United States prohibit loans to Italy and Ethiopia was made tonight by Miss Jeanette Rankin, long-time advocate of peace who, as a member of congress from Montana wept and voted against entry of the United States into the World War.

Coming here from her home in the woods near Bogart, Ga., where she has lived for many years since leaving Montana, Miss Rankin spoke at a meeting of the Georgia Peace Society.

"I am deeply concerned," said the continental talk of war," she said, in her address.

Demanding that this nation "pay the price of non-cooperation" with warring nations through "restricted trade," Miss Rankin said, "the price is small contrasted with the price asked by the profiteers when they involve us in conflict."

Re-elected at LaGrange

W. F. Jarrell Defeats Homer Harper for Post as Councilman.

LAGRANGE, Ga., Oct. 9.—Climaxing one of the most spirited campaigns here in several years, LaGrange voters today re-elected Dr. R. S. O'Neal as mayor for the third consecutive term, his vote being 1,181 to 560 for Elmer B. Crim, his opponent.

In the only race for council, W. F. Jarrell, with a vote of 1,274, defeated his opponent, Homer Harper, who received 438 votes. Richard Hutchinson Sr. and Sig. O. Owen were re-elected to council without opposition.

Dr. O'Neal has served as mayor since 1931, and previous to that, in 1923 and 1924 was councilman. His terms as mayor have been marked by notable civic improvements, among which are a $40,000 municipal swimming pool, dedicated at the beginning of this season, and plans for a city and Troup county hospital, acceptance of which by WPA officials is virtually assured.

The retirement of a $47,000 debt is the particular achievement of the O'Neal administration. The city is now debt-free. Dr. O'Neal has also served LaGrange for three years as city physician. He is a native of Harris county and is 49 years old.

Concerning his renomination, Dr. O'Neal tonight expressed keen gratification at the confidence in him evidenced by the people of the community, and pledged himself to a continuation of previous policies.

A heated campaign was conducted by both candidates for mayor, and especially during the last few days, when headquarters of both grew more active and made appeals to the voters.

Crim is a local attorney.

STEPFATHER ADMITS KILLING 2 CHILDREN

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9.—(P)—After prolonged questioning, the office of Chief of Detectives John Carroll announced today that Fernin Rowland, arrested here, had admitted killing his two small step-daughters in Michigan two weeks ago.

According to the announcement from detectives' headquarters the two girls had been drowned in a small lake after a part of a broken pillow-share had been tied to their necks to weight the bodies. Location of the lake was not determined immediately.

The prisoner was arrested here today at the request of Michigan authorities.

The two children, Katherine Woodin, 6, and Virginia, 2, disappeared from their home at Harrison, Mich., two weeks ago with Rowland, their stepfather.

Tobacco Price Increases.

DANVILLE, Va., Oct. 9.—(P)—With a Virginia quantity of good leaf offered the tobacco market today absorbed 529,674 pounds at an average price per hundred of $20.65. This was an increase of 45 cents over yesterday's average.

PERSONALITIES SEEN IN HIGH COURT RULINGS

Robinson Says 5-4 Decisions Indicate More Than Legal Questions.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Five-to-four decisions of the supreme court by which the constitutionality of many laws has been determined, "clearly indicates that in some instances the result depends on the personality of the tribunal, rather than on clear legal distinction," Senator Joe T. Robinson declared here tonight.

Discussing the Roosevelt administration's efforts with relation to the welfare of workers, the senate majority leader, in an address before a rally sponsored by the North Little Rock Women's Democratic Club, said: "I'm making provision for the safety and welfare of the nation's workers, the Roosevelt administration has demonstrated liberality and response to both justice and necessity."

"We have not knowingly disregarded the constitution, but have sought to conform legislative policies and measures to the limitations and restrictions imposed on the federal government by the organic law of the land."

Slapping back at critics of the New Deal on the grounds that its measures are unconstitutional, Robinson said 70 per cent of the acts of congress held unconstitutional by the supreme court have been enacted when the legislative and executive branches of the government were under control of the republican party.

Legion Asks Labor Federation To Join in Drive on Communism

Matthew Woll Declares He Is Wholeheartedly in Favor of Suggestion to Weed Out Reds and Keep America for Americans.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 9.—(AP)—The American Legion asked the American Federation of Labor today to join in a nation-wide drive to stamp out communism.

Ray Murphy, the Legion's newly elected commander, delivered the invitation in a speech at the federation's convention. In view of the recent suggestion of Matthew Woll, federation vice president, that the two organizations unite to fight red activity, acceptance of Murphy's bid was generally expected.

Woll told reporters he wholeheartedly favored Murphy's suggestion for joint action. He predicted that either the convention or the executive council would name a committee to work with the Legion.

"For long, the Legion has had an Americanism commission and a director of Americanism," Murphy said. "To a committee of the Federation of Labor as such committee may now or hereafter be constituted, we extend an invitation to work with our commission in close co-operation and complete sympathy and understanding to the end that such subversive elements may well be identified and vigorously and unreservedly opposed."

Before Murphy spoke, a resolution calling for investigation of communist activity in the Teachers' Union was introduced, and the convention refused to seat a former communist candidate for congress.

"From the very beginning we took our stand fairly against the subversive movements which sought to destroy our form of government, and with increased activity we are still at it. From that line we will never retreat," Murphy said.

"The American Legion does not hold that changes in government are either impossible or impracticable. The world changes, America with it. The basic law of our land has been amended and may be amended many times. The constitution was created for the people. Within the elastic limits of that great charter as amended, made mandatory because of the limited assets available to it."

When the $65,000 monthly was made available last February as the board began to function, only 9,000 persons were on the unemployable rolls of the organization, but that number increased to 12,974 on August 31, and indications are that it will mount during the winter months, the report pointed out.

In addition, the cost per person and per family is increasing with the rising prices of commodities and the need for fuel.

An indication of the cost hike is shown in the following comparisons: Cost per white person at end of July, $9; cost per white person at end of August, $10 per month.

Cost per white family per month at end of July $16.15; cost per white family per month at end of August, $18.

Cost per negro family per month at end of July, $10.40; cost per negro family per month at end of August, $12.20.

Cost per negro person for month at end of July, $5.40; cost per negro person for month at end of August, $6.40.

Atlanta pays $40,000 a month to the board, and Fulton county $25,000. The city cannot pay more at this time, administration leaders assert.

WELFARE BOARD NEEDS LARGER APPROPRIATION

$15,000 Per Month Additional During Winter Months Necessary, Miller Says.

The $65,000 monthly contribution by Atlanta and Fulton county to the Board of Public Welfare, Fulton county, must be supplemented by an additional $15,000 a month to meet increased winter requirements, Frank Miller, executive director of the organization, said yesterday in a report of the organization and services.

W. Eugene Harrington, chairman of the board, filed the report with Mayor Key. It shows the painstaking work of the board and its organization in the drive for efficiency and economy, made mandatory because of the limited assets available to it.

When the $65,000 monthly was made available last February as the board began to function, only 9,000 persons were on the unemployable rolls of the organization, but that number increased to 12,974 on August 31, and indications are that it will mount during the winter months, the report pointed out.

CLIPPER CARRIES 43 Airliner To Go Into Passenger Service Shortly.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The China clipper, described by Pan-American Airways officials as "Lindbergh's dream," made its first flight with passengers today.

The aircraft, largest ever built in America, took off from the water of Middle river and flew to Washington with 35 passengers and a crew of five aboard. It circled the capitol four times, then returned to Baltimore in little more than an hour.

Officials said Lindbergh had been invited to pilot the huge machine on its maiden trip, but he withdrew in favor of Captain Edwin C. Musick.

The clipper has a wingspread of 130 feet, has a gross weight of 31,000 pounds, develops 3,200 horsepower with four engines and has a cruising radius of 4,000 miles.

Plans are under way to take it to New York next week, then to Miami. It will make several Caribbean flights, then will go to the west coast.

THIRD TEAM JOINS MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Elks Contest Entered by Group Headed by Frank
M. Robertson.

Competition took on a keener note at the Elks banquet last night when a third team was entered in the campaign for new members for the Joseph T. Fanning class to be initiated on November 14 in a nation-wide ceremony to be participated in by more than 1,400 lodges in the United States.

Each team in the contest has a car which it uses in its quest for new members. Exalted Ruler Frank M. Robertson, captain of the new team, introduced his team into the competition by driving his team automobile into the library of the Elks Club here, and made it known that his men intended to pull ahead of the other two teams, which have been in the competition some time.

Captains of the other teams are Frank R. Fling and J. Schley Thompson. The banquet last night was presided over by Dr. Raymond W. Thorpe, chairman of the membership committee. Italian food was served entirely and supervised by the Italian members of the lodge.

BLOODHOUNDS FAIL

Gasoline Fumes Baffle Dogs,
Let Quarry Escape.

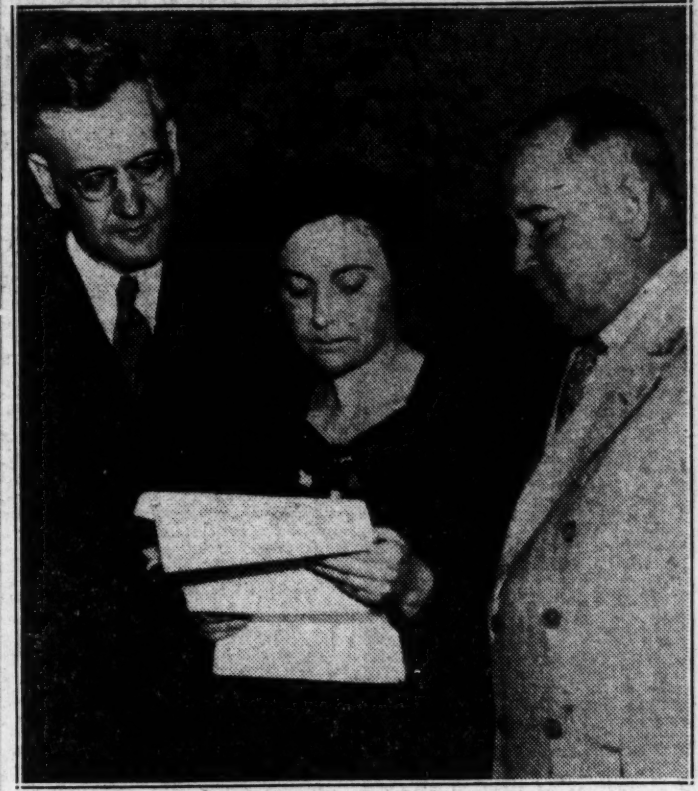

Until the bloodhound can be crossed with some breed that will produce a carbon monoxide hound, J. W. Cole, inspector in charge of the Atlanta postoffice, believes that its day of usefulness has been outlived.

His theory worked itself into a fact at Greensboro, Ga., yesterday when the town's prized kennel of bloodhounds failed to pick up a scent from three looted mail pouches discarded by the robbers near a battered mail box, bayed with lusty excitement and noses to the ground, dashed eagerly to a highway 300 yards away where they gave up in disgust.

The robbers had fled in an automobile and the bloodhounds found the highway odors repellent.

Special inspectors have been sent to Greensboro to check the value of the missing mail matter, which is still undetermined.

Plan Healthy Teeth for 16,000 Children

Fulton county's 16,000 school children will have their teeth examined next Wednesday by more than 200 dentists, who will pry into the remotest cavities in anxious mouths in the remotest sections of the county. Here are some workers mapping out the program. Left to right: Knox Walker, assistant superintendent of Fulton county schools; Mrs. Frank Bettis, president of the Fulton P-T-A. council and Dr. J. G. Williams, of the state board of health, state chairman of health education of the Georgia Dental Association. Staff photo by Turner Hiers.

200 Dentists To Inspect Teeth Of 16,000 Children in Single Day

Into the remotest corners of Fulton county more than 200 dentists, traveling in motorcoaches, will penetrate next Wednesday and, before their day's work is through, every one of Fulton county's 16,000 school children will have undergone a thorough dental inspection.

This county-wide dental inspection is being sponsored by the county board of education and the county board of health. The huge staff of dentists are all volunteers who have responded to an invitation from Knox Walker, assistant superintendent of the county schools, who appeared before a meeting of the Fifth District Dental Society and received unanimous response from the members.

The project is for the purpose of improving the health of the school children and is part of a state-wide dental health education, promoted by the State Department of Health, the State Department of Education and the Georgia Dental Association.

The dentists will assemble next Wednesday at their central meeting places, from which they will travel by automobiles to all points of the county.

MINERAL CATALOG OF STATE PLANNED

Retiring Officer of Society Makes Proposal; Professor Daniel New President.

A catalog of all known mineral locations in the state is proposed by Dr. Frank Daniel, retiring president of the Georgia Mineral Society, it was announced yesterday following a meeting for the election of officers. Dr. Daniel said the catalog would be a "major achievement" and a "monument" to the society.

First field trip to follow the proposal will be made to the Macon Indian mounds and to Holton quarry and Brown mountain, near Macon, on November 3, it was announced yesterday. Headed by Dr. Leon Smith, of Western College, about 15 members of the society are expected to make the trip.

New Officers of the society are Professor John L. Daniel, of Georgia Tech, president; H. P. Nelson, vice president; T. Emory Bradley, secretary, and Lathrop Baker, treasurer. The society, which now has 30 members, is open to all persons interested in minerals, geology or gems, according to Lane Mitchell, retiring secretary and treasurer.

ALCOHOLISM DEATHS REPORTED INCREASING

Investigation Indicates Number Greater Than Shown in Vital Statistics.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 9.—(AP)—An investigation of indications that deaths from alcoholism and social disease are double the number officially reported was decided on today at the American Public Health Association meeting.

The action was voted by the section of vital statistics after listening to confidential death statistics from Westchester county, New York.

There, when some of the physicians told confidentially the real causes of deaths of their patients, rather than the official ones they listed on death certificates, alcohol and social disease went way up. Cancer also rose. Heart trouble dropped, apparently having been used in some instances as camouflage. Cerebral hemorrhage likewise dropped as a cause of death. The report was prepared by Marjorie T. Bellows, statistician, Westchester county department of health. It cited first an extensive investigation two years ago which aroused suspicion about alcoholism and social disease, and then told how further inquiry into death reporting had been blocked, except for scattering new figures which support the first finding.

ENTIRE CREW RESCUED IN WRECK OF HESPERUS

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Rescue of the crew of 27 men of the Gloucester fishing schooner Hesperus, which sank yesterday off Cape Cod, was completed today when a coast guard boat picked up three men in a dory and brought them to Provincetown.

The entire crew had suffered many hours of hardship and peril, both before and after they abandoned the sinking schooner. The others had been rescued earlier by other fishing vessels.

Built at Essex in 1917, the Hesperus for 18 years escaped the fate of her namesake, immortalized by Longfellow, which was lost with all hands on the reef of Norman's Woe, just outside Gloucester many years ago.

288 ATTEND SCHOOL ON FIRE PREVENTION

Drive To Reduce Hazards Meets Enthusiastic Atlanta Response.

Many Atlantans yesterday were enthusiastically enrolled in the battle being conducted jointly by the Atlanta fire department and the fire prevention committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce to eliminate fire hazards.

A total of 288 building superintendents, janitors and watchmen enrolled in the first session of a fire school, conducted yesterday at the auditorium armory, Chief O. J. Parker, of the fire department, asserted the number exceeds that of other fire schools conducted in the thickly populated centers of the east and is a tribute to the desire of local employees to protect the lives and properties for which they are responsible.

In addition, Fulton county and Atlanta schools were giving fire prevention a preferential place in extra-curricular activities, and thousands were focusing their attention on the problem.

Nellie Belle Drake, of Fairburn high school, and Frank Teasley, of Milton high school, both of the Fulton county system, are to receive gold medals from the Atlanta fire department for the best essays submitted on fire prevention at a luncheon at Atlanta Post No. 1, American Legion, to be held at 12:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Ansley hotel.

Other gatherings of fire prevention students will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, Chief Parker announced.

The local observance is part of National Fire Prevention Week, which is being observed throughout the United States.

R. T. Meadows, of the American District Telephone Company; P. W. Smith, of the Southeastern Fire Underwriters' Association; Chief Parker and Harry Phillips, assistant fire marshal of the Atlanta fire department, are instructors at the school.

DYNAMITERS PLEAD Terrorist Gang Given Three-Year Terms.

Entering pleas of "guilty" to acts of terrorism, Ed Houst, C. A. Briscoe and Fred Harris, three of several persons indicted for dynamiting private residences and smashing many electric beer signs, were sentenced to three to seven years' imprisonment yesterday by Judge Hugh M. Dorsey in Fulton superior court.

Charges against Clyde Bishop, alleged "pay-off" man for the group, were dropped yesterday and will be not pressed. He denied guilt.

Aileen Sisk, sweetheart of Marvin Honea, who was granted a 30-day reprieve yesterday by the governor from a death sentence for a hold-up murder, is to be tried on charges of dynamiting residences and smashing signs at a later date. Assistant Solicitor Quincey Arnold announced. Fred Harris had previously been tried and convicted of attempting to dynamite a dwelling and was sentenced to 12 months, which will run concurrently with the sentences passed yesterday.

Herman Gasden, indicted with the group for smashing beer signs, entered a plea and was fined $300 or 18 months in prison. He was not charged with dynamiting. The remaining member of the gang, Joe Noonan, is still at large.

COMMITTEE NAMED ON SCHOOLS AUDIT

George S. Lowman, eighth ward school commissioner, whose request for a detailed audit and personnel survey of the Atlanta school department has been turned over to a special board committee, yesterday announced he has a letter from Charles J. Metz, president of the Audit Company of the South, setting out that the audit of school accounts made by Metz's company was a "limited one."

The Lowman announcement followed the appointment of the special committee to ascertain whether an audit, such as he has demanded, would in fact effect a saving in school expenditures.

Ernest J. Brewer, board president, yesterday announced the following board members will serve on the committee:

Ed S. Cook, chairman; Lowman, W. W. Matthews, George C. Garner and Louis Geffen.

Key Plans Referendum on Proposed Merger of City, County Systems.

A direct appeal to the electorate of Fulton county on the proposal to merge the Atlanta and Fulton county school systems was planned yesterday by Mayor Key as the result of a conference during the day with Hugh C. Couch, chairman of the non-official holding members of a consolidation commission.

If the program develops it is anticipated that Fulton voters will be asked to express their preference in the county primary, which probably will be held in March of the next session of the Georgia legislature has already paved the way for the consolidation of the school systems by passage of an enabling act in the 1929 session of the assembly.

Key asked Couch to complete his studies before assembling the commission, which will study, in addition to school merger, the consolidation of the police, sanitary and tax receiving and tax collection departments of the two governments.

FOOTBALL TAX SUIT IS ARGUED IN COURT

Marion Smith and Special Assistant Attorney-General Are Opposing Counsel.

The injunction suit of the regents of the University System of Georgia to prevent W. E. Page, federal collector of internal revenue for the state, from taking approximately $4,800 he claims are federal taxes collected at football games of Georgia Tech and the University of Georgia, was argued in the circuit court of appeals here yesterday.

The court is expected to render its decision at a later session in New Orleans.

Marion Smith, Atlanta attorney, representing the regents, contended that as an agency of the state of Georgia the regents were not obliged to collect football taxes for the government.

Tickets sold to purchasers, he contended, said on their face that 10 per cent of the purchase price would be retained by the schools "unless it is finally determined that the school itself is liable for the tax."

M. H. Eustace, special assistant attorney-general from Washington, questioned the right of the regents to proceed by injunction and added the point of whether the funds are the property of the state of Georgia should be determined in the law courts.

"Holding the money," he contended, "will result in the unjust enrichment of somebody if it is not turned over to the federal government."

The trial court ruled with the government in denying the injunction asked by the regents.

EXECUTIVES OF HOLC RECEIVE PROMOTIONS

Penniman Transferred to Pacific Coast With Semple Succeeding Him Here.

News of major changes in the executive staff of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation in Washington was announced yesterday by Hugh B. Flece, regional manager of the corporation with jurisdiction over the five southern states of Alabama, Georgia, Florida, North Carolina and South Carolina.

William F. Penniman, assistant general manager of the corporation who has had charge of this and the Memphis region, consisting of the other six southern states, has been transferred to the same position for the sixth district, consisting of all western coast states.

Thomas H. Semple, of Nashville, who has done outstanding work for the corporation as special representative in many states, has been appointed assistant general manager to succeed Mr. Penniman in this district.

Mr. Penniman and Mr. Semple arrived in Atlanta yesterday for an inspection of the regional office and a meeting today with the state managers of the five states involved.

In Charge of District.
Mr. Penniman, under whose direction this region of the HOLC has functioned in a highly efficient manner, has been put in charge of the sixth district, comprising the Pacific coast and adjoining states. The corporation recognizes the outstanding qualifications and the ability of Mr. Penniman and in view of the progress of this region through his guidance, he is being chosen to fill a position of much more importance, because of the larger area, and in which many more difficult problems occur, concerning the interest of the corporation.

Mr. Penniman is succeeded in charge of this region by Mr. Semple, who as special representative of the corporation, has been intimately in touch with conditions throughout the south and whose fine record has won him promotion.

In addition to the enlarged duties given Mr. Penniman and Mr. Semple, the HOLC board has added four new deputy general managers and one deputy assistant general manager.

Hurricane Assistance.
Both officials of the corporation expressed particular pleasure at the reports received by Hugh B. Flece, regional manager in Atlanta, of the assistance rendered by the HOLC in the areas suffering from the recent Florida hurricane.

Mr. Penniman pointed out that in several of the cities in which there was material damage, not only have the home owners with HOLC loans been protected from loss, but new life has been put into the construction industry and allied trades through the expenditure of many thousands of dollars of hurricane insurance money.

"The reports we receive," commented Mr. Penniman, "show that the HOLC is doing a fine job of protecting the home owners and of helping the construction industry and allied trades through the expenditure of many thousands of dollars of hurricane insurance money."

Finds Quality Demanded

J. C. BROWN.

ed Mr. Penniman, "actually indicate that in some communities the expenditure of this insurance money has brought better economic conditions than have existed in years. The fortunate position of these home owners illustrates the safety of homes protected by HOLC loans, and the broader phase of the service rendered by this agency of the federal recovery program."

This Region Leads.
In commenting on the status of the HOLC work in this region, Mr. Semple cited that this is one of the leading sections of the country in regard to the ratio of loans closed to net applications received.

Mr. Semple also commented favorably on the splendid manner in which borrowers were meeting their monthly payments in this section, saying that the reports of the corporation show this region to have the lowest delinquency in the whole country.

In this connection, Mr. Semple pointed out that reports received from every state in the Union indicated wide approval, both on the part of the home owners with HOLC loans, and the public of the policy of the corporation, that foreclosure proceedings be instituted against borrowers who could pay and would not.

This favorable reaction is attributed to the fact that the adoption of this policy by the corporation evidences that it is being conducted on a business basis.

SCOTT PAPER COMPANY LIKES NEWSPAPER ADV.

Advertisers of quality products are relying more and more on newspapers to tell consumers about their goods. Especially is this true of concerns manufacturing food and other grocery store items.

To cite an example, the Scott Paper Company is using newspapers in 61 major cities over the country to "introduce their new Waldorf tissue." According to the company, this new tissue is much improved in quality and fully wrapped for health protection. These improvements are made possible by costly paper machine improvements at the company's plant at Chester, Pa.

The Scott Paper Company is a leader in its field. Its two major brands, Scott Tissue and Waldorf, are among the world's largest selling tissues. This manufacturer has confidently chosen newspaper advertising as the most effective way to announce the new Waldorf to the public.

QUALITY IS DEMANDED BY RADIO PURCHASERS

Decreasing Insistence on Lower Prices Noted by Philco Distributor.

Returning recognition of quality and a decreasing insistence on low price in the south is seen by J. C. Brown, local Philco radio distributor, in the sales report of the past three months, which shows that the company's business during this period has been by far the greatest in its history.

Two outstanding reasons for this phenomenal increase in sales are given by Brown. First, the improved economic conditions, with resultant increased purchasing power and, second, the ever-growing conviction of the public that Philco gives them radio at its best.

"Six years of leadership in the radio business is a record that has been won by Philco only by putting out the best radio sets it is possible to build," declared Brown. "It is this fine performance that has made people turn to Philco for fine tone, efficiency of performance and beauty of cabinet."

Increasing demand for the higher-priced models indicates, according to Brown, that the best in radio reception is becoming more and more indispensable in the entertainment and education of the American family.

After commenting upon the great advance during the past year in high fidelity radio reproduction, with its consequent increased demand for quality instruments, Brown pointed to the growing interest in short-wave reception of programs from foreign stations.

Brown explains that even with the most powerful set in the world, full benefit of world broadcasting cannot be enjoyed unless an aerial system is employed that is specially designed to bring in extremely faint signals with a minimum of atmospheric and man-made static.

New All-Wave Aerial.
"Such a combination is an absolute necessity," he says, "to have one set that is like running a car on low-standard gasoline. In neither instance you realize full power. So that the owners of Philco radios might get everything these sets are capable of giving, Philco designed its new all-wave aerial. This aerial is specially engineered to pull in the faintest signal from thousands of miles away and to reduce to a minimum man-made static and local electrical interference."

WPA CUTS HOURS OF SKILLED LABOR

Less Work for Same Pay Means Higher Scale of Wages.

Skilled WPA workers in seven of Georgia's more populous counties will receive a reduction in pay, according to an announcement yesterday by Miss Gray B. Shepperson, state administrator for the WPA.

The change, effective October 15, is tantamount to an increase in wages for skilled workers.

In Fulton county the skilled worker will have a 96-hour month, consisting of three eight-hour days a week for four weeks of the month. Their pay of $68 a month remains.

Unskilled and intermediate workers will continue to work their present scale of 140 hours a month.

In Richmond, Bibb, Chatam, Muscogee, Floyd and Troup counties skilled workers will have a 120-hour week, consisting of four days a week at seven and a half hours each for four weeks of the month. Their pay also stays at $68.

Unskilled and intermediate workers in these counties will remain at their present scale of 140 hours a week.

All other counties of the state will continue their present hourly schedule.

The new scale is reported to be the result of an agreement between the WPA and the labor unions.

"This represents the fewest number of hours on which projects can be operated under the program as it has been set up," said Miss Shepperson.

MRS. ALBERT L. DEIHL PASSES AT RESIDENCE

Mrs. Albert L. Deihl died yesterday morning at her residence, 387 Arnold street, N. E. Mrs. Deihl had been a lifelong resident of Atlanta and was a communicant of the Sacred Heart church. She was a first cousin of Rev. Father Joseph Sullivan, superior general of the Marist fathers.

Mrs. Deihl is survived by her husband, two sons, Leonard and Clarence Deihl; four daughters, Mrs. L. A. Davis, Mrs. Peter A. Brady, Mrs. Sam Donelson and Mrs. Herman Murphy, and by three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Sacred Heart church, with Rev. Father John Emmerth officiating. Burial will be in Crown Hill cemetery.

INDICTED DADE CLERK PASSES THROUGH HERE

George McCall, former Dade county (Miami) criminal court clerk under indictment on a charge of embezzlement, passed through here last night in custody of Sheriff D. C. Coleman en route to Miami by plane.

McCall declined to comment on the charges against him. He said he had been cooking in a San Diego hotel.

Coleman said McCall was recognized by a man, whose name the sheriff declined to reveal after Coleman had offered a $200 reward for his capture.

Faced by head winds from Dallas, Texas, they arrived late in a Delta Air Liner.

VALIDATION OF BONDS LAUNCHED IN COURT

Proceedings to validate $1,775,000 in bonds for sewers and city schools were instituted yesterday in Fulton superior court by Solicitor General John A. Boykin, acting for the state versus the city of Atlanta.

Judge E. D. Thomas set October 19 as the date on which the case will be held. The bonds, $1,000,000 for sewer improvements, $500,000 for storm sewers and $275,000 for city schools, were approved September 18 by the voters of Atlanta. Bond Almand will represent the city in the legal procedure to validate the issue.

HAUPTMANN VERDICT AFFIRMED

The affirmation by unanimous vote of the New Jersey court of errors and appeals of the conviction of Richard Bruno Hauptmann for the kidnaping and murder of the Lindbergh babe leaves appeal to the federal courts as the only recourse in the courts for the condemned man.

Had the appellate court found errors in the conduct of the trial warranting the granting of a new trial, it would have meant the delay of the final disposal of the case for many months, and possibly years, while it again ran the gamut of the state courts.

Now Hauptmann's attorneys can go only to the federal courts in their effort to have the verdict set aside—a step which they announce they will immediately take.

It is improbable that the appeal to the supreme court will afford any material delay in the final determination of Hauptmann's case, since the high court docket is not a heavy one and the case would undoubtedly be reached within at least a month or so.

Only two other courses are open to Hauptmann's lawyers—an appeal for a new trial on the grounds of newly discovered evidence, and an appeal to the state board of pardons—neither of which offer much encouragement that the German-born carpenter from the Bronx may escape the electric chair.

The unanimous decision of the New Jersey high court will increase the practically unanimous conviction of the American people that Hauptmann's sentence was a just one.

While the verdict of the court has been delayed many months, at least now the end of the promised long-drawn-out course of the case through the courts is in sight, unless the supreme court overrules the verdict of the trial court.

FORGET-ME-NOT DAY

On Friday the annual Forget-Me-Not drive will be held in Atlanta under the auspices of committees from approximately 100 civic organizations and with more than a thousand workers from the Federation of Women's Clubs and the P. T. A., collecting funds to be used for the aid of the disabled veterans. The general chairman of the drive is Mrs. H. M. Nicholas, chairman of the war veterans' committee of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

The D. A. V., organized in 1920 with congressional backing in order that the disabled veterans might have an official spokesman, concentrates its activities on the rendering of assistance to the former soldiers who suffered mentally or physically as a result of their service, and aiding their families.

Broadly, the program of the organization consists of furnishing emergency relief, employment opportunity and rehabilitation service to those whose earning capacity has been lessened, or destroyed, as the result of their service to their country. Through these activities many disabled veterans have been made community assets, instead of community liabilities, and the burden of those who must be supported transferred from the community to the federal government.

The annual Forget-Me-Not sales constitute a vital contribution to the success of the rehabilitation program. The D. A. V. now maintains 34 full-time rehabilitation officers at the various government hospitals and will establish similar service in six additional states in the near future.

Every dollar contributed to the Forget-Me-Not fund goes to the relief of the disabled veterans and their families, as there is no overhead expense incident to administration. No work has a greater appeal than the efforts devoted to make less heavy the penalty paid by the soldiers who suffered in line of duty, and in making the lot of their loved ones less hard.

Every Atlantan should contribute liberally to the fund which represents, in the final analysis, an expression of appreciation from the people of America of the service of those who suffer because of their bravery and patriotism.

IN "DRY" GEORGIA

The first two days' sessions of the fall term of the federal district court in Atlanta give indisputable evidence of the huge flood of illicit liquor inundating every section of "bone-dry" Georgia.

In the cases heard by Judge Underwood during these sessions it is revealed that more than 37,000 gallons of liquor and mash belonging to the 45 distillers, brewers and bootleggers tried were destroyed by the federal agents when the arrests were made, together with thousands of dollars of equipment for moon-shining.

A graphic description of the scene in the federal court is not only the courtroom, but adjoining hallways, were jammed with those awaiting trial for violation of the liquor laws, relates that "the thousands of gallons of liquor flowing over the dam in the court swept away all other cases, the liquor law violators crowding up to the bench like a noon-hour line in a cafeteria."

With the jury panels soon exhausted as one jury quickly followed another in the jury boxes, it was necessary for deputy marshals to go out on the streets and hale in passing businessmen to act as additional jurors.

Such is the harvest of liquor law violations reaped in a few weeks in the area included in the northern judicial district of Georgia.

For the entire territory covered by the local offices of the Federal Alcohol Tax Unit it is reported that 243 stills in Georgia, Alabama, South Carolina and Florida were destroyed during September, 449 arrests made, property valued at $33,000 destroyed, 6,899 gallons of whiskey and 214,740 gallons of mash poured out, and 85 cars and trucks seized.

Of the 449 arrests made for failure to pay the federal liquor tax, 176 and 120 were made, respectively, in the "dry" states of Georgia and Alabama, with only 96 and 57 in Florida and South Carolina where the state prohibition laws have been repealed.

No more convincing record of the folly of the attempt to achieve temperance through prohibitory laws is to be found than that existing on the dockets of the federal and state courts. In these dockets is revealed the definite proof that prohibition does not prohibit.

CANNED FOODSTUFFS

Under direction of Miss Gladys Waters, Arkansas home supervisor for the rural resettlement division, Arkansas farm women have canned 4,904,680 quarts of vegetables, fruits and meat, and if the planned project is carried to completion the total will be 12,905,900 quarts of food by January 1.

Early in the season it was planned to put up 140 quarts per person for a total of 19,000 families, and the work was started in 1,400 community kitchens throughout the state, with hundreds of farm women giving their time and efforts to the project during the summer and early fall.

In addition to the canned goods most of the families have put away large stores of dried peas, beans, fruit, sorghum molasses and corn meal. When these families have eaten well through the winter and on up to the time garden truck is ready next spring it is asserted that there will be great additions to the number who will enlist in the work next year.

This is just one outstanding instance of the "live-at-home" movement that is being fostered by the federal government throughout the south, and points the way to better future for all classes of farmers. Tenants and croppers who in past years had to be "furnished" by landlords will gradually learn that by little extra effort they can supply all of the food and feed that is required, and then when the time comes to settle up they will not find a huge bill for food and feedstuffs. There will be but few instances in which a landlord will not allow a tenant or cropper ample land on which to raise a good garden, small flock of chickens and pasture for a cow and a few pigs. Money saved in this way is even better than money earned, and eventually the provident farmer will find that "living at home" is a sure stepping stone to better times in the farming business.

To date, 225,000 visitors have been paid for a glimpse of the Dignette tots. How about numbering the play suits and selling an official program?

The G. O. P. high command reports a snub balance in the bank. It would like to get in touch with a reliable substitute for AAA; also a candidate.

World's Window

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

Colonel Julian.

From Harlem, N. Y., city of "Battling Siki," Christian communism, Josephine Baker and red-hot jazz has come Colonel Hubert Julian, the "black angel" of One Hundred and Twenty-Second Street. He is here in Ethiopia, if not to fight, then at least to impress Mussolini and the whole world, as he says, with the fact that 12,000,000 colored folk in the U. S. A. and Canada stand solidly behind the Negro, "with their resources and their full moral support."

Some say Julian is not a colonel in the American army at all and that he never had a commission from Washington. But, anyway, Colonel or not, Julian looks at least like a field marshal with his tight-fitting khaki uniform, his elegant red top hat on his shoulders, five gold stripes on his sleeves and a cap, when he is not sporting a sun-helme, on the peak of which is a broad strip of gold braid, three inches thick. He once saw on the Prince of Wales' head-ear when he was in the uniform of the Grenadier guard.

Downtown Spirits.

I met the colonel in an unofficial capacity, as he sat in a deep leather fauteuil in the barroom of the Hotel Europe, contemplating a tumbler of whiskey, a bit pessimistically, I thought. Things indeed appeared not to be going exactly as he wanted. The colonel did not complain, but he looked gloomy just the same.

"Are you in the Abyssinian army now, colonel?" I asked.
"Not yet," he shook his head. "I am here in the capacity of observer, and to offer the services of a million American colored men to the Negroes." "A million men, that's a lot!" I said, somewhat taken aback.

"That ain't so much as you think," came back Colonel Julian. "I could raise a force of two million if I was asked."

Has the Negro accepted your American volunteers?"

"Dunno yet. There's some difficulties," he replied curtly.

"Yes, and the answer come hesitatingly. 'It's about the transports, you see, Abyssinia ain't got no navy and I dunno if Uncle Sam will lend us any.'"

"In the great war, Uncle Sam had quite a job of getting his own men to France. It isn't a small job by any means. Then there will be the Italian submarine campaign to the emperor."

"Oh, them subs isn't holding us up," Colonel Julian protested with a gesture of contempt. "Them subs is the least of our worries."

"What's the thing that's worrying you then?"

"It's our own boys, where we gonna get 'em," he said.

"Yes, and the answer come hesitatingly. 'It's about the transports, you see, Abyssinia ain't got no navy and I dunno if Uncle Sam will lend us any.'"

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON.

CONSPIRACIES

NEW ORLEANS.—The average man on the street here believes Huey Long's assassin drew the short straw. No one will ever be able to convince him that anything short of a murder conspiracy was behind the death of the Louisiana dictator.

This version is probably the one which will be handed down to posterity, although the best informed non-partisans, and even some of the men in the Long outfit, do not believe it is true.

What has happened on the inside here is that the Long leaders have taken up the conspiracy theory and are determined to perpetuate it. Some of them may believe it is true, but all recognize the political value in it. They are not overlooking the opportunity of establishing a martyr case to hold their movement together.

For that reason, the Long authorities now conducting a private investigation of the assassination will come out shortly with what they will call further evidence to promote their theory. Their evidence will have to be very strong to convince anyone not already convinced.

SHOWMANSHIP

The reason the theory is not accepted by those in the know is that all the evidence points in a different way. Most of Huey's talk about assassination conspiracies was primarily political popycock. He told at least two friends that he carried his bodyguards for publicity effect and really did not believe anyone wanted to kill him. He was worried about getting his face mangled in a fight, but not about his life.

Probably a thousand persons in Louisiana (and at least a hundred more in Washington) have said at one time or another that Huey was going to be shot, or should be. Some even volunteered conversationally for the job, but no one ever did anything.

It may be hard for an outsider to believe, but it really was all part of Huey's show.

TYPES

What is more convincing is the fact that the assassin, Dr. Carl A. Weiss, does not fit into the conspiracy picture. He never paid much attention to politics. He was a home-loving man, an expert on a particular throat ailment, and Huey, politically, was far away. In fact, no political expert here had ever heard of Dr. Weiss during all the historic Long battles in the state.

It is true that his father-in-law, District Judge B. P. Pavy, a popular man, was having his troubles with the Long outfit. Judge Pavy controlled a district which Long could not get. At that time, Long was sponsoring a bill to combine this judicial district with another in hopes of getting rid of the judge.

Dr. Weiss knew all about that, but it is hard for most impartial investigators to believe any man would go out to kill solely because his father-in-law's job was endangered, at least not a man of Dr. Weiss' attainments.

Most political experts doubt that Long could have conquered the judge by combining the districts. Pavy was possibly popular enough to have won both against Long.

ACTIONS

Most convincing of all are the actions of Dr. Weiss on the day of the assassination. He went to mass in the morning, took his wife and his three-months-old child (he was deeply devoted to both) to the home of his father and mother for their customary mid-day Sunday dinner. Then all went out to their camp on the river. He went swimming with his wife, played with his child, was unworried. Those who saw him that day are convinced he carried no thought of murder.

What changed his mind, apparently, was a telephone call he received at home about 8 p. m., after he had put the child to bed. While his wife was in another part of the house, he took his gun and went out. Later, the wife, noting the disappearance of the gun, started calling friends on the telephone. She was too late. The assassination occurred about 9:30.

REASONS

From this set of facts, and some others, the conclusion has been accepted by trustworthy authorities that Dr. Weiss had a deeper personal reason for his deed than any which have been stated, that this reason was non-political, that it was not entirely new to him, that his decision was made suddenly after he received the telephone call.

FANTASY

The most fantastic theory now going the inside rounds here is that Long was killed by his own bodyguards, that Dr. Weiss did not have a gun.

No autopsy was conducted on the body. It has never been officially established that the bullets came from the gun of Dr. Weiss.

No autopsy is needed, however, to discount this theory. There was one unbiased witness to the shooting, a newspaperman on a New Orleans paper, who was a very close friend of Long. His hand was on the inside knob of a door three feet away when the first shot was fired. He immediately threw it open, heard Long say, "I am shot," and saw one Long bodyguard with a finger caught in the automatic held by Dr. Weiss.

The first thought in the mind of this good reporter was that Long was staging the scene for political effect. He refused to send out the news until he went to the hospital near by and saw Huey, who had walked away alone while the bodyguards wrestled with Dr. Weiss.

SILHOUETTES

BY RALPH T. JONES.

They erected a statue to Peace, An angel with pinions outspread.

They swore that all warfare should cease In the name of the needlessly dead.

They bathed its foundation in tears, With a curse they adorned its brow.

They turned from the sorrowful years, With faith they renewed the old vow.

But Mars once again reared his head, And stirred his pitiless brew, And armies of doomed ones, undead, Marched to the war drums anew.

And out of the horrified skies The plane spewed their deadly steel spray, And there, the bomber's first prize The statue of Peace, broken, lay.

Jane Withers,

Of Atlanta.

Atlanta is once again to the fore in world news and comment.

Received yesterday a copy of "Filmmography," motion picture publication from Mexico.

Front cover is devoted to a picture of Jane Withers, the little Atlanta girl who has scored such an impressive success on the screen.

"Filmmography" devotes most of its space to pictures of and articles about Spanish players who are strangers to us.

The longest article of all, however, three pages, is about Jane Withers. Not going to attempt a translation—it is, of course, in Spanish—but there it is, in one place. "Roberto Jones," is referred to for his "zolf," as "los pacificos, ciudadanos de Atlanta, Georgia."

Don't Forget

Your Stickers.

Been giving much thought of late to this Safe Driving campaign your best morning newspaper is conducting. Have seen the stacks of signed pledges in the office, totaling almost 25,000 the auditors tell me. And have been surprised at how few of the accompanying red stickers are to be observed on automobiles upon the streets. Must be a lot of people who sign the pledge and fall down on the first obligation they have assumed, to help the work and give an example by affixing these stickers to windshield and rear window.

(Yes, I have them on my car, thank you.)

It is now more than 25 years since I started driving automobiles. In that time I have had two accidents, both minor ones. In each instance the cause was a motorist who drove out of a side street onto a traffic boulevard without looking stopping or pausing. And I was on the boulevard.

Within the past six months, however, I have had two narrow escapes from what might have been serious smashes and in each case because of infraction of the same safe driving rule.

Signal When Leaving Curb.

It is a section of Rule 6 in The Constitution's pledge. "Not to leave the curb from a parked position without giving a signal."

The first time, six months ago, was on the highway between Thomaston and Griffin. That time one more coat of paint on the car and I wouldn't have been able to get between a truck, traveling 50 miles an hour toward me, and the old driver that had, without warning, started out on the paving on my side of the road.

The second time was Tuesday evening of this week. A car turned into traffic from the curb without warning. A street car was coming the other direction. And again I had to aim at a small and rapidly shrinking hole.

Pure luck pulled me through unscathed in each instance. Luck will hardly hold the third time.

Thank You,

All of You.

So won't you all please, sign that pledge and, for my special benefit, observe that clause from R-6 already readily quoted?

Five county officers raided a College Park camp game at 2 o'clock Sunday morning in Bert Wait's stable, and arrested six participants, all of whom are now lodged in the tower under a $200 bond.

Seven rats were found in a pouch of mail at the postoffice yesterday.

Today Is the Day

BY CLARK KINNARD.

TODAY'S ALMANAC
Thursday, October 10: morning stars: Neptune, Uranus, Venus, Evening stars: Mercury, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn. Full moon tomorrow.
Now is a good time to take a look at Saturn. Its dull ruddy light enables it to be seen in any crowd of stars. It is nearly 800 times as far as Earth and has at least nine moons, perhaps many more. The nearest satellite is Mimas, which whirls around the planet in only 23 hours.
The World War 30 Years Ago Today.
October 10, 1915.—The British, standing in German trenches at Loos, repulsed a strong counter-attack. Sir John French had halted his offensive the day before because of the heavy losses which the British had sustained with enormous expenditure of material. No great results had been obtained. The British did not have enough reserves to back up immediately the positions they had won. The French advance, which was to have been coincident, did not take place until six hours after the British, which left the right of the British exposed to the German counter-attack. The offensive which had been planned for the day had been abandoned. The British had been too tired and had been too far from their objectives.

ETHIOPIA LIVES

It Honestly Makes a Man Famous, It Means the Honest Are Few

UNCHANGED

(Copyright, 1935, by the World-Wide News Service.)

"Can the Ethiopian change his skin or the leopard his spots?"

In that sentence you have Abyssinia, Ethiopia, the land of taking the day almost as much a mystery to the rest of the world as it was when the people of Ennurope lived in caves, dressed themselves in skins, and painted their bodies with woad.

And yet it is a country famous down the ages. It has seen great empires—Roman, Portuguese, Dutch, Spanish—grow up, dominate the world, and sink into oblivion; but Ethiopia lives on as it lived in the time of Christ, as it lived in the time of Solomon, unchanging and unchangeable.

JUVENILE HOME BLAZE IS TERMED INCENDIARY

Prisoners Claim Boy Admitted Setting Fire; Grady Carson Convicted.

Three affidavits that a negro boy admitted setting fire to the juvenile detention home Monday, contrary to previous reports that the conflagration started from a defective flue, were in the hands of Solicitor-General John A. Boykin yesterday.

Three white prisoners who were being held at the courthouse detention room Monday afternoon swore that a small negro boy, named James Lee, told them while the fire was burning that he had started the blaze in the hope of escaping from the home, where he had been held.

Lee denied to Judge Garland M. Watkins yesterday that he set the fire. One of the affidavits declaring that Lee confessed to incendiaryism was signed by Grady Carson, son of "Fiddlin'" John Carson, who yesterday was convicted in Judge Hugh M. Dorsey's court of shooting his wife, Mrs. Grady Carson, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Bernice Carson, last July. He was sentenced to three years' imprisonment. Assistant Solicitor Quincy Arnold prosecuted and he was defended by J. E. B. Stewart.

Judge Watkins said yesterday that he "had sent his last charge to the old juvenile detention home" because of the great danger to the children. Meetings are to be held this morning by the judge and representatives of relief agencies here to work out a plan of caring for delinquent and dependent children until a new detention home can be constructed.

DOMESTICS' SCHOOL IN SESSION THIS WEEK
Negroes engaged in domestic work are being given a full course in efficiency and service at a school held nightly at the Zion Hill Baptist church auditorium and continuing through Friday.

Examinations will begin Monday and will continue for a period of 60 days in order to allow those who took the mail course, offered in connection with the undertaking, to qualify.

A. A. Hebert, national president of the Association of Cooks, Waiters and Maids and one of the sponsors of the school, warned workers in those lines that unqualified persons will be replaced by those who are competent and efficient.

CUTCLIFFE'S PLEA UNDER ADVISEMENT
Prison Commission Expected To Make Recommendation in Day or Two.

The state prison commission yesterday took under advisement a plea for commutation of sentence or probation made before it by Swift Tyler, attorney for Walter Cutcliffe, former head of the Atlanta number racket, who is serving a 12-month sentence on the chain gang.

Attorney Tyler told the commission that Cutcliffe is in a local hospital recuperating from an operation and that he desired to be placed on probation if the board does not see fit to recommend that the sentence be commuted by Governor Talmadge to present service.

The commission is expected to send a recommendation to the Governor in a day or two.

Cutcliffe was in considerable pain at Georgia Baptist hospital yesterday, and his condition was described as "fair." He will be confined there several days, it was reported. Cutcliffe's tonsils were removed at the hospital several days ago by Dr. Bonar Olds, Atlanta physician.

2 NEGROES SENTENCED ON MURDER CHARGES
Judge Virlyn B. Moore passed sentence on two convicted murderers yesterday in Fulton superior court.

TEA HONORS HICKY, POET OF ATLANTA
Occasion Marks Publication, Today, of New Volume of Verse.

Atlanta poetry lovers are invited to a tea in honor of Daniel Whitehead Hicky, local poet, to be given in the restaurant of the Davison-Paxon Company this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, the publication date of Mr. Hicky's new volume of verse, "Call Back the Spring." Mr. Hicky will read selections from this new book and Richard Holtzclaw will sing two songs written by Mr. Hicky and set to music by Kenneth Walton, a well-known English composer.

This is the third of Mr. Hicky's volumes of poetry. The first, "Bright Harbor," received more commendation than is usually accorded a first work in verse. His second volume, "Thirteen Sonnets of Georgia," now a collector's item, was published to commemorate Georgia's bicentennial celebration in 1933.

"Call Back the Spring," a collection of some 40 new poems, is said by critics who have read advance copies to maintain the freshness which characterized his earlier work and to exhibit, in addition, new power and fluidity. Mr. Hicky's verse has been published in leading magazines in this country and in England.

COURT DENIES MOTION TO ACQUIT ROBINSONS

Judge Refuses To Direct Verdict in Stoll Kidnaping Case.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 9. (AP)—The two Stoll kidnaping defendants were denied a directed verdict of acquittal late today after the government completed its evidence.

The court's ruling on defense motion made as soon as the government completed its case, left Thomas H. Robinson Sr. and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Frances Robinson, to present their defense and let the jury pass upon its merits. Presentation of defense testimony is due to start tomorrow.

Monte S. Ross, of Nashville, chief counsel for the senior Robinson, argued that the Robinsons ought not be required to present a defense, and that the jury ought not to pass on the case unless the government evidence impelled the conclusion that the defendants conspired to kidnap Mrs. Alice Stoll for $500,000 ransom and excluded the theory of innocence. Ross argued primarily for the elder Robinson.

The Robinsons were indicted with Thomas H. Robinson Jr., their son and husband, respectively, for conspiring to kidnap Mrs. Stoll for ransom. Robinsons eluded "G-men" and officials the day Mrs. Stoll was freed and her ransom delivered in an Indianapolis hideout where he imprisoned Mrs. Stoll six days. He has not been caught.

Judge Hamilton agreed with Ross' statement of the law but disputed his application of it to the facts in the Robinson case.

PRISON OFFICIALS SEEK 6 NEW JAILS
Population Expected To Jump 20 Pct. in Year; Overcrowding Noted.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. (AP)—With the federal prison population expected to increase by 15 to 20 percent in the next year, prison authorities decided today to urge the next congress to give them money for six more jails.

The plan is to model them after a jail at Milan, Mich., each built to a 600-inmate capacity.

The prison population boom—existing and expected—was credited to the aggressive war of the G-men, new liquor laws and new crime laws.

Reports show the prison population last week was only 400 less than the all-time record. There were 15,225 prisoners, an increase of 2,855 over the same week last year. "Normal capacity" of all federal prisons is 13,743.

Overcrowded conditions are reported at Atlanta, Ga., where a "normal capacity" of 1,910 is being used to house 2,498 prisoners.

FIRE-DAMAGED BRIDGE TO BE RECONSTRUCTED
Chairman W. E. Wilburn, of the State Highway Board, announced yesterday the board would let an emergency contract next Monday for the building of new approaches to the Lumber City bridge over the Ocmulgee river to replace approaches recently destroyed by fire.

The chairman said the work would be paid for out of state funds and estimated the cost at $75,000.

Dolores Costello Granted Divorce From Screen Lover, John Barrymore

Former Film Star Wins Custody of Two Children, $850 a Month and $163,000 in Securities in Los Angeles Court.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9. (AP)—John Barrymore, who made a fortune making love, was at once divorced and separated from a good share of his wealth today by beautiful Dolores Costello.

Blue-eyed Miss Costello testified Barrymore "made no effort to see me" after his recent hide-and-seek game with his protegee, brunette Elaine Barrie, in a cross-country race.

The 33-year-old actor merely dashed in and out of Los Angeles—after eluding Miss Barrie at Kansas City—his wife, herself a former screen star, testified.

She said, however, arrangements had been made at the time for her to see their children, Dolores, 5, and John, 3, whose custody she won. The 10-year-old Miss Barrie said in New York she was "not particularly interested" in the divorce.

"You just must ask Mr. Barrymore if this makes any difference in our relations," she said. "Any answers must come from him."

A property settlement gave Miss Costello $850 a month and $163,000 in securities. She must pay premiums on her $200,000 life insurance policies for the children's benefit.

Barrymore kept $100,000 in securities, three parcels of real estate, including their Beverly Hills mansion, and the yacht Infanta, on which the actor now is reported at sea off Miami, Fla.

Although the size of the award to Miss Costello indicated no pecuniary necessity for it, reports have been circulated that she might attempt to regain the fame she won in pictures before she wedded the actor seven years ago.

In low tones Miss Costello testified she last saw Barrymore August 28, 1934. She smiled wanly as she testified.

"A situation arose in Vancouver, and I was forced to leave the yacht and come home to Los Angeles by train," she said, adding that Barrymore followed several days later.

"He telephoned me," she went on, "and said he was going to New York. He said 'good-bye and good luck.' Those were the last words I heard from him."

The actress wore a long, modish coat over a blue-green woolen gown. Her hat, shoes, handbag and gloves matched in Dubonnet red.

CONDENSATION OF CODE PUBLISHED BY LAWYER
The formidable job of condensing the entire Code of Georgia, so that one can obtain quickly and easily the salient points of any portion, has been accomplished by S. B. Fenster, an Atlanta attorney.

Law students, whose requirements for admission to the bar in Georgia were raised by the compulsory examination act of 1933, will find the volume helpful, the author declares. The book is entitled "A Review Outline of the Code of Georgia."

FOUR JURORS SELECTED IN ZENGE MURDER CASE

CHICAGO, Oct. 9. (AP)—Four of the jurors who will decide the fate of Mandeville W. Zenge, young Canton, Mo., carpenter on trial charged with murdering his love rival, Dr. Walter J. Bauer, by mutilating him with a penknife, were accepted today.

As the jury selection began in Judge Cornelius J. Harrington's court, Zenge's attorneys announced the defendant would not testify in answer to the charge unless something unforeseen occurs.

Zenge, 26-year-old son of a Canton, Ohio, farmer, is accused of kidnapping Dr. Bauer last July 30 from an Ann Arbor, Mich., hotel and forcing him to drive to Chicago, where a crude emasculation operation caused the victim's death. Dr. Bauer was a professor in Kirksville, Mo., College of Osteopathy.

AUTOS' DEATH TOLL MOUNTING STEADILY

would be wonderful if members of the Chamber of Commerce, individual and fleet owners, would go 100 per cent signing The Atlanta Constitution Safety Pledge.

Pledge from Tampa.

Among individual signed pledges received yesterday was one from Tampa, signed by W. F. (Spot) Watkins, an Atlanta whose duties, as a traveling salesman, keep him out of the city and on the highways 75 per cent of his time.

"This is a wonderful movement," writes Mr. Watkins, "and if the driving public would all take this pledge seriously it would result in the saving of lives and injuries to many people."

84 Killed Here in Year.

During the 52 weeks which ended last September 28 there were 84 automobile deaths within the city limits of Atlanta and, strangely enough, the toll of deaths for the preceding year was exactly the same. In greater Atlanta the deaths this year have been 111 compared to 101 the year before.

Hope is mounting fast, however, that this tax upon the population of Atlanta and Georgia will be reduced, as individuals and groups readily send in their signed Safe Driving pledge and join in the campaign for street and highway safety.

Yesterday the Safety Council received a letter from the Ford Motor Company, Atlanta branch, asking for 150 pledges and stickers with the promise that every employee and member of the company's local personnel would be glad to enlist in the safety campaign.

From the Stone Baking Company, through its president, Joseph Heckler, came a similar promise of co-operation. Mr. Heckler, in his letter, told of the safety campaign his company and associated bakeries have been conducting with splendid results. He told of 400 trucks operated, each carrying a poster on either side driving home the lesson of safety to all who read and congratulated The Constitution for its efforts for safe motoring.

From Marietta came a magnificent editorial, published in the Cobb County Times, which is co-operating with The Constitution in the drive for safety. Blank pledges and stickers for signers' automobiles may be secured at the offices of that paper and the gospel of correct driving is being placed before the people of Marietta with every issue of the Times.

Carolina Newspapers Aid.

Clippings from Spartanburg, S. C., and Anderson, S. C., papers likewise carry strong editorial commendation of The Constitution campaign, while the Hartwell, Ga., Sun, in praising the work being done by The Constitution, emphasizes the need for referring to the fact that 51,200 were killed and more than 1,300,000 were injured in traffic accidents during the 18 months that ended June 30 of this year.

To do your individual part in the campaign it is not only necessary that you sign the Safe Driving pledge and live up to the seven rules it lists, but also that you affix the small red stickers which will be furnished by The Constitution on receipt of your signed pledge, to the front and rear of your car.

No Interference.

These small stickers, placed at the right lower corner of your windshield and on your rear window, will not in any way interfere with vision while they tell all others you, for one, are striving to observe the Safe Driving rules at all times and serve as silent example to other motorists to do the same.

Sign your pledge today and, inclosing stamped, addressed envelope, send it to the Safety Council of The Atlanta Constitution and you will receive your stickers in return.

Twenty-five thousand Georgia motorists have already signed.

The Spartanburg, S. C., Herald says in an editorial:

"Those who refuse to sign such a pledge confess themselves hogs of the highway, willing to take the risk of destroying life, injuring fellow motorists and passengers and wrecking automobiles."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Casterol—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food does not digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement does not get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up."

Less, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25¢.

Germans Here to See Georgia's Textiles

Two of the 13 German textile manufacturers who were here yesterday, on their tour of the cotton belt, are seen looking over a list of Georgia textile mills with Walter Ward, center, general passenger agent of the Hamburg-American Line in Atlanta, who arranged their visit. The Germans are Senator Robert Birkner, left, and Director Eduard Wuttig, right. Both men spoke at the luncheon given for the party at the Atlanta Athletic Club by the Atlanta Foreign Trade and Travel Club. Staff photo.

Germany Wants Southern Cotton, Visiting Manufacturers Declare

Southern cotton is eagerly desired by Germany, it was revealed here yesterday by a group of 13 German textile manufacturers who are touring the southern cotton belt.

At a luncheon in the Atlanta Athletic Club, members of the party expressed their hope for a "renewal of trade relations" and "development of a suitable method of monetary exchange." Senator Robert Birkner, editor of a German textile magazine, said southern cotton was valued above that of Japan, Brazil, Egypt or any other country.

"We prefer American cotton because it is of higher quality and cheaper than that of other nations," said Director Eduard Wuttig, operator of a large textile mill. "But since there is no means of monetary exchange except through cooperative trade, it is impossible for us to use American cotton because the United States does not import goods from Germany."

The Atlanta Foreign Trade and Travel Club entertained the visitors at luncheon. Charles Tuller, Atlanta exporter, was the principal speaker.

On a sightseeing tour, the Germans were taken to the party's headquarters at the German-American Hotel. Walter Ward, general passenger agent for the Hamburg-American Lines in Atlanta, arranged for their visit.

In the group were Senator Robert Birkner, Studebaker Max Dubrau, Robert Goetz, Alfred Herding, Frau Gertrud Kelm, Ferdinand Klingenthal, Frau Margarete Malmode, Gerhard Mueller, Bruno Pihl, Otto Rueger, Walter Schwarz, Director Eduard Wuttig and Frau Ilse Zissler-Graeter. The party left last night, after a dinner at the German-American Club, for Miami. While here they visited the Scottdale Mills.

The girl had been dressed in school clothes and slippers. The clothing was not disarranged, and there were no signs of violence in the room. The only mark on the body was a slight abrasion on the throat.

Following the autopsy, Coroner David H. Atwater said death was caused by strangulation.

LABOR DIFFICULTIES HINTED IN AIR TRAGEDY

Probe of Cheyenne Air Disaster Asked by Head of Chicago Federation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(AP) John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, today asked a government investigation of labor troubles which he said may have led to the United Air Lines disaster at Cheyenne, Wyo., Monday, in which 12 persons were killed.

In a telegram to labor department officials, Fitzpatrick referred to reports he said he previously had made on labor conditions between the United Airlines and the Aircraft Mechanics Union of Chicago.

The telegram official said he reported that first-class mechanics had been discharged and replaced by apprentices, that the employees were "repudiated" and "not allowed to work," and that there were repeated violations by the United Airlines of law and of contracts with the Postoffice Department.

Fitzpatrick said his reports were made "without result, not even an investigation."

Fitzpatrick said "the terrible loss of life in the disaster, may have been caused by motor trouble."

"Must we have more of such disasters and loss of life before we have an investigation as to the real cause of such disasters?" he asked.

Miss Elise Maundlin, of Buford, Ga., also injured in the accident, is improving at Grady hospital. She suffered a broken leg when the car crashed.

A Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal

A cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation today may lead to serious trouble tomorrow. The danger is in the fact that Creomulsion, an emulsified Creosote that is pleasant to take, Creomulsion is a medical discovery that aids nature to soothe and heal the infected membranes and to relieve the irritation and inflammation as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled.

Medical authorities have for many years recognized the wonderful effects of Beechwood Creosote for treating coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritations. A chemist worked out a special process of blending Creosote with other ingredients so that now in Creomulsion you get a real dose of Beechwood Creosote which is palatable and can even be taken frequently and continuously by adults and children. Thousands of doctors now use Creomulsion in their own families and practice, and druggists rank Creomulsion top because in this genuine, original product you can get a real dose of Creosote so emulsified that it goes to the very seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles, especially those that start with a common cold and hang on and on. Get a bottle of Creomulsion right now from your druggist, use it all up as directed and if you fail to get satisfactory relief, he is authorized to refund every cent of your money. ## CORSET SHOP ADDS AREA AT DAVISON'S

New Section of 'Junior Foundations' and 'Redecoration' for Entire Department.

The corset shop has been completely redecorated in the modern manner and is an attractive addition to Davison's famous third floor of fashion. Miss Sally Jackson, figure expert for "Smoothies" the foundations for small and average figures, is in the new department through Saturday.

Miss Jackson will give valuable advice on figure problems. Davison's invites Atlanta women to visit the new shop and to consult Miss Jackson.

HAUPTMANN JUDGE HAS NO REVERSES

Justice Trenchard, 71, Has Presided in 91 Murder Cases.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 9.—(AP) Justice Thomas W. Trenchard, 71-year-old dean of New Jersey's supreme court, who sentenced Bruno Richard Hauptmann to die in the electric chair, has presided in 91 murder cases and—so far as available records show—has never been reversed.

Hauptmann was the eleventh man sentenced to die. Seven have paid the extreme penalty, six by electrocution and one by hanging, back in 1907 a few months before New Jersey provided for death by electricity. Three others had their sentences commuted to life, and one of the three, Michael Beckasy, of Mercer, ultimately received a reprieve.

SELASSIE CLAMPS GAG ON NEWS OF WARFARE

flank which allegedly included the capture of an Italian colonel and 30 other officers.

Ras Kassa, another chieftain, was said to be marching toward the Setit river, on the Eritrean border, with an army of 80,000, while a third force was reported advancing steadily northward under Dedjazmach Ayulu.

Subversion Denied.
Although he had not yet received his passport, Luigi Vini-Gigliucci, the Italian minister, packed up his bags to go home. The government announced it had sent Vini a letter asking him to leave "as a matter of courtesy." He denied Ethiopian charges, made at Geneva, that he had used the legation radio to transmit information to Rome in defiance of requests from the Addis Ababa government.

Declaring she will "keep my tent" at the front where they have always been, the slim Wazera Shameraga Gaby, who inherited 10,000 servants, vast fields and great herds of mules and ponies from her father, prepared to leave Addis Ababa Thursday to head her own army of 15,000 men.

Unlike most of her rich Ethiopian sisters who are content to live a life of idleness and grow fat, Shameraga has retained all her grace and agility. She wears a gray American felt hat over her bushy hair, a blue suit and tight-fitting breeches.

The little emperer himself intends to lead a vast army to the Dessye sector. After he leaves the capital, probably will be in charge of the match Balcha, ferocious general who fought with the former Emperor Menelik and who is known as a stern disciplinarian.

Many Reports Denied.
The government denied daily Ethiopian reports that Italian troops were using poison gas, that Ethiopians had surrounded Addis Ababa, massacring the Italian troops who occupied the village Sunday, that Edgiamach had been captured and that the war minister had departed from Addis Ababa.

There was one report, lacking details, two Italian planes had collided while bombing Geriokubi, in the south.

Apparently all sectors were comparatively quiet tonight.

Numerous Italians, among them the Dessye consul, left today by train. Others who departed included Mrs. Florence Eiler, of Wooster, Ohio, who is going to Calcutta with her German husband.

Evacuate by Saturday.
As Vini-Gigliucci told his friends goodbye, legation officers were burning huge stacks of old diplomatic documents. The minister, expressing relief at news the Addis Ababa was safe, said he believed all Italian diplomatic posts in Ethiopia would be evacuated safely by Saturday.

About 80 Italian missionary priests and sisters, answerable to Pope, would remain, however, and the government may be obliged to intern them unless they leave of their own accord.

Selassie already has ordered his charge d'affaires at Rome, Negrasda Yesus, to ask for his passport; has directed the Ethiopian consul at Asmara, Eritrea, to withdraw and has asked all his subjects to leave that Italian colony.

Noted Turkish Warrior Explains Why Ethiopia Will Remain Unbeaten

By LAURENCE STALLINGS.
(Copyright, 1935, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

HARAR, ETHIOPIA, Oct. 9.—The discipline of the Germans, the artillery of the French, the English flair for fortification—these command the praise of war-grizzled Wehbi Pasha, wiry Turkish campaigner, to whose able hands Emperor Haile Selassie entrusted the task of mobilizing and organizing the warriors of Ethiopia into a compact fighting mass.

Of his Italian foe, the military prowess of this veteran of the wars has little but contempt. And though the sentiment never leaves his lips, his auditor has the inference that the Belgian instructors, teaching parade marches, are a waste of time.

"The German officer," he says, "is a paragon of the infantry combat instructor. Where such meticulous details are followed, my German friends are unexcelled. Give me the French for their rifles. Their artillery. You have never had to face that. They are unexcelled for artillery direction.

But the English are the great masters of fortification. They dig trenches. Tomorrow there are flanking maneuvers. In three days, the thing has become a maze, echeloned infinitely."

One suggests that the Italians have fought well, perhaps, in their day?

Tells of Victory.
"Of course," the Pasha says. He tells of their taking a fortress in the Italo-Turkish war of 1912. "Of course their men will fight well. But they must rush at it, with songs. In effect, when they are shaken into the open, they will be nearly as much the guerrilla as the Ethiopian."

There is an alternative, it is suggested. Perhaps the Italians will keep together as legionnaires, leaving screens and contact to airplanes. "Then they will get nowhere at all," is the answer. "They must maneuver. This war must be a war of maneuver."

"You'd let everything go for the sake of tactics, wouldn't you?" "Oh, no. There are points which must be held. They will cost us something, but we shall hold them."

One would like to ask about his "carter" for his "carter" with him for his "carter" and circles, which he holds poker-hand fashion occasionally.

Map Is Spotless.
The Pasha's map is spotless. Any map will do him. Your map or his. He has just driven, ridden and walked some 1,500 kilometers through the Ogaden.

"These strong points," one begins. "Their strong points? Last week I saw clearly the fortifications around Walwal. The Italians are even now 150 miles into Ethiopian territory, and yet the Ethiopians stay their hand." The Pasha bores.

"I could take their little forts in half an hour. But why? Leave them there. They cannot cross Ogaden there."

"Doesn't your excellency fear," one asked, "the effect of gas among your men when holding those essential strong points along the Webbe Shibli?"

"Gas, you ask?" The Pasha, from the balcony of the pension, stared thoughtfully at two minaret white against green graves of corn and Ethiopia candelabra. "Yes, gas is bad. Gas is bad, and Harar province is vast. Gas costs money. If it were England or France with money and patience, and not the Italian dictator with little time to spare. Have I answered?"

"Out there," his excellency said, sweeping a sleeve toward the boundless fruitfulness of Africa's last independence, "out there will be the grave of Italian fascism."

"About the camel corps," one began. . .

Predicts Desertion.
"Exactly. A camel corps. The light Somali camels. Nothing at all European in their nature, but a striking force, of Moslems. When the Italian native troops learn of me, they will desert to join me."

One ventured that the Italian native troops were well conditioned and well-led; that the record of native troops in Africa was one of loyalty to the European powers. The French colonials, whether Tirailleurs from Djibouti or Senegalese beyond Sahara country; and the English—nothing finer than the king's African rifles around Naipobi.

"Has a Moslem called to them?" asked the Pasha.

It was only decent to avoid religion. "Your inspection yesterday, excellency? Were you impressed?"

"Yes, with fighting spirit. In one company I excluded three garçons from ranks. One had 11 years; two, 14. One man had his wife and three grown sons."

The correspondent witnessed the truth of this. "They were in a camion, weren't they?"

"Exactly," said the Pasha. "In the peasant infantry which left for."

be cut off from its only rail outlet to the sea, in French Somaliland, and Emperor Haile Selassie will have lost his chief route of supplies.

From what I am able to learn here—all Ethiopian reports are fragmentary and often of doubtful reliability—the bombing of this region by Italian planes appears an immediate probability and capture of Djibouti a matter of not more than 10 days or so.

I reached the field headquarters of Dedjazmach Nassibu here last night, despite an order no civilians may approach the front, but the credent of simply setting out with my translator and couriers and traveling over the caravan route from Harar. Once I was there there seemed to be no objection.

Dedjazmach Habte Michael, commanding the defense of Garrahai (on some maps spelled Gorrhai) radioed Nassibu reporting that the Italians, having failed to dislodge the Ethiopian defenses near the town, again had resorted to aerial chemical warfare.

Using Powdered Chemical.
The commander said the Italians, in addition to bombs and gas, were dropping a powdered chemical looking like sulphur which was causing heavy casualties among the Ethiopians. The chemical burns the skin, causes blindness and destroys the lungs, he said.

Nassibu said he had learned the Italians now are using 100-pound bombs, dropping an average of 400 daily on the Ogaden front. Airplanes were working in flight squadrons instead of groups of two or three.

The general asserted 50,000 Italians now are attacking along the whole Ogaden front. The largest Italian columns are storming Garrahai, which is not a city but a collection of mud forts and deep trenches extending over a wide, wooded area.

Shoot from Trees.
The Ethiopian defense is chiefly guerrilla warfare. The men shoot from trees and behind stone barricades, no fire into cave, and trenches as the Italian planes approach.

Through my interpreter I questioned runners from the front who confirmed Nassibu's allegations the Italians are using chemicals and gas bombs. Owing to the unfamiliarity of the new weapons, however, it was impossible to determine the exact type of chemical attack.

The continuous reports of the bomb and chemical attacks obviously worried Nassibu and his staff. The officers pored over maps of the front lines in a little, tin-roofed, log-beamed, while-washed room and usually gave the word of a few days ago and disappeared.

It was a strange sight to see these chief chiefs, some of them attired in lion skins, brushing flies away with whips made of strips of lion's manes, discussing the complicated terms of chemical warfare.

The runners who came in from time to time wore the typical "shamaw," a white robe over tight white trousers. They all had full cartridge belts and pistols. These men can trot barefoot over the mountain trails.

To Advance Headquarters.
Nassibu planned to push his headquarters nearer the center of combat today or tomorrow, he said, and the Italian thrust into Ogaden had failed to dislodge his outposts defending Jijiga and Harar, "but we are expecting more serious air raids soon and we are making war preparations possible. We have a number of mobile anti-aircraft and machine guns posted on the mountain tops."

Nassibu's head was bandaged because of an infected ear. Infections seem common among the natives—but his energy is endless. His voice shook with rage as he described the alleged Italian aerial attacks.

"The Italians call us savages," he said, "but it is they who are resorting to the use of gas which apparently is their first contribution to the civilization of Ethiopia."

Scene at Jijiga.
As we talked in a whitewashed hut where the general is living, long lines of irregulars shuffled by towards the front. The chiefs, clad in every conceivable sort of uniform, took salutes in a hurry, as they continually were scanning the skies for Italian bombers.

The floor of the room in which we sat was covered with "upadaf," a kind of native carpet, and there was one table and a few chairs were the only furniture. Outside a guard of barefoot soldiers chattered about their domestic problems—most of them having wives with whom they debated such questions as the merit of shoes for soldiers and how to repair their old trade guns.

A bustling, bewildered adjutant, ordered the dispatch of natives with orders to the front, while other officers ordered the removal of entrenching tools.

The Ethiopian command was heartened by a message from Dire Dawa, 250 additional French white colonial troops had arrived to reinforce the railway guard. The men were lodged in barracks near the French consulate. Nassibu hoped their presence would prevent Italian air raids on Dire Dawa and the severing of his line of communications with Addis Ababa.

$25,000 IN DIAMONDS SEIZED BY 3 BANDITS
GREENWOOD, Miss., Oct. 9.—(P.) Stephen Marx and his son, New York diamond salesmen, reported to the sheriff here today they were held up and robbed of about $25,000 worth of diamonds by robbers on a highway three miles north of Tchulahoma.

They said they were stopped by three robbers, taken out of their car and tied by ropes to trees in the woods while the robbers rifled their effects of the jewels.

The robbers left the scene in an automobile traveling north on highway 49-E. Residents of Rising Sun later reported an automobile with three men in it, answering the description of that of the robbers took a side road there and turned eastward either toward Winona or Lexington. Rising Sun is four miles south of Greenwood.

THIEF TAKES ANTIQUES FROM TEA ROOM LOBBY
A very particular thief with a penchant for the very best antiques has been making a series of excursions into the Poplar Coffee Shop, at 63 1-2 Poplar street, where he removed a number of valuable antiques from the lobby. It was reported to police yesterday.

Mrs. Lucy T. Black, proprietor of the tea room, told detectives that several original manuscripts of famous authors as well as a small bronze statue, said to be over 300 years old, had been taken by the thief. The statue stands about 14 inches high and depicts a mounted soldier and an infantryman in combat. It was brought to this country by a Spaniard, one of the first settlers of Savannah.

He referred to the Nazi putsch of July, 1934, when Chancellor Dollfus was assassinated. Italy's army was moved to the frontier, ready to march into Austria should Nazi Germany attempt to take over the Vienna government.

Hungary's Position.
Hungary took a similar position. Said Lasso Develles, her delegate: "Hungary hears with grief of measures about to be applied against Italy, which so frequently and effectively has shown its friendship toward Hungary."

None of the delegates appeared much worried about the attitude of Austria and Hungary. Neither of these nations is important as a source of supply for essential materials to Italy. Their exemption from sanction would be important only if Germany defied the League and gave extensive economic assistance to Mussolini, using Austria as a transit region.

British delegates believed Germany will co-operate passively with England and the League although they admitted Hitler might demand a foreign loan to compensate him for loss of Germany's Italian market.

The British said pressure will not be administered in small doses but will be exercised immediately on the largest possible scale.

An unanimous vote of the assembly is not required. Any nation which refused to approve the council's indictment of Italy, however, is not compelled to join in application of sanctions.

BRITISH CABINET MAPS SANCTION LEADERSHIP PLANS
LONDON, Oct. 9.—(UP)—Britain moved rapidly tonight to map out a plan to lead the League of Nations in enforcing vigorous penalties upon Italy because of Premier Benito Mussolini's "unjustified" invasion of Ethiopia.

The cabinet met twice and surveyed the general Italo-Ethiopian situation, particularly discussing the penalties which the League will inflict and their repercussions upon British trade. It was understood British coal exports may be cut off as a first move against Italy.

British coal exports to Italy during 1934 were valued at about $20,000,000. In 1935, 4,686,551 tons to continental Italy, 24,832 to Italian Libya and 5,299 to Italian East Africa. Forty six per cent of the coal came from Welsh mines.

12,000 SAID STRICKEN IN AFRICAN INVASION

Haile Selassie's warriors but by slow starvation and lack of meat, is causing the Italian high command acute anxiety.

Army commanders reportedly have informed Premier Mussolini that even so-called mild economic sanctions by League powers would be fatal to the expeditionary force if they succeeded in shutting off regular supplies of frozen meat.

Italy is said to have made large contracts for frozen meat from South Africa and South American countries, including 25,000 tons from Brazil.

Brazil is not a League member, hence her decision whether or not to co-operate in League sanctions is awaited anxiously in Rome.

The League's sanctions committee will have the task of settling this question under Paragraph 1 of Article XVI of the covenant, which reads that after sanctions are voted, all League members undertake to prevent "all financial, commercial or personal intercourse between nations of the covenant-breaking state and nationals of any other state whether a League member or not."

Italians in the past have brought large amounts of frozen meat from Australia but this source is eliminated since Australia will work with the mother country, England, to enforce the most rigid boycott. Canada and the United States are not expected to supply Italy.

In addition, it was reported in London yesterday Britain was taking steps to sequester British ships having refrigerators space.

BERLIN POLICE CLOSE HIGH-PRICE BUTCHERS

BERLIN, Oct. 8.—(UP)—Police today closed five meat shops for charging in excess of the fixed maximum prices, and warned other dealers against similar transgressions.

The butter shortage appeared improved, but fruit supplies are still limited. Cheerful interviews with housewives over the food supplies were broadcast.

GEORGIA FARMERS PAY U. S. LOANS PROMPTLY

High Cotton, Tobacco Prices Hasten Retirement of Debts.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Because of good prices for cotton and tobacco last year, Georgia farmers are now meeting their obligations to the Farm Credit Administration more promptly. J. H. Scarborough, president of the Columbia (S. C.) Land Bank, told a group of officials of the FCA in session here today.

The outlook for crops this year in the third land bank district which comprises the states of Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Florida, he said, is generally satisfactory. Mr. Scarborough explains that one reason for farmers in his district meeting their obligations with promptitude at this time was that they now have their debts in better shape.

"The recent hurricane," he declared, "threw an uncertain factor into the cotton situation. Although no estimate has been made of its damage, I believe the grade of much of the cotton in the affected areas will be lower and the output reduced. Tobacco generally, is good both in price and quality."

Mr. Scarborough reported an increase in applications for land bank loans. In June of this year applications were coming in at the rate of about 15 a day. Each month has seen an increase until at present about 45 a day are coming in. This, he believes, will stand as the peak for this year, indications pointing to a decrease in applications during the next few months.

The Columbia bank this year will exceed its last year's total for sales of real estate. With three months to go, the bank thus far this year has disposed of farms for a total of $2,000,000, which was the total sales price of farms sold by the bank during the whole of 1934. He anticipates sales this year will reach the $3,500,000 mark.

Culbertson on Contract

By ELY CULBERTSON, World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

BIDDABLE SUITS.

The constant nightmare of any good player is the strength and length of his trump suit in the combined hand. The success of any trump bid is built around a good trump suit, and if the trump suit is undermined by repeated forcing then the entire hand collapses. I ascribe most of the disasters at the bridge table to the sloppy selection of the trump suit. It is hard enough to wreck the hand on the invisible rock of adverse trump distribution even after most careful bidding. But when, in addition, the player violates the elementary principles of safety in declaring or in supporting the suit as trump, I nominate him a member of the bumplepuppy bridge club.

The average players get wrecked with their weak trump suits because they are blissfully ignorant. The experts do it because they know too much. Lately I have observed many fine players indulging in opening four-card suit bids on trumps as low as J 9 3 2 and responding with as little as 10 8 3 2. They think it is new. It is old and dates back to 1923, when my friend, Mr. Ellis, wishing to be more radical than I, published a book advocating four-card trump suits headed by an 8. Recently I have seen dozens of hands bid by experts mutilated because a weak trump bid is made and partnership is driven to an impossible contract.

If your partner opens the bidding or responds on any kind of four-card suit how can you get a precise count of losers in that trump suit? And if you cannot determine with fair accuracy the minimum or maximum of losers in a trump suit, give up all hopes of precise bidding, especially in slams. It is well to remind my bridge friends, beginners or experts, that an opening four-card trump bid, particularly in majors, must show a certain minimum honor strength and that this rule cannot be violated except possibly with 4-4-1 enclosed in a powerful hand. This minimum is any four-card suit headed by a jack and a higher honor. For instance, A J 8 3 2, Q J 3 2, K J 3 2. To bid such suits originally you will need a pretty strong hand, at least three honor tricks, and, I hope, a bit more.

More important still, you will need a partner who is not a moron and who will not run amuck by raising you to the sky with inadequate trump support. The player should be equally careful in raising his partner's suit. For instance, it is true that Q 3 2 is adequate trump support, even when your partner bid one in a suit and thus may have a weakish four-card suit. But it is adequate with more "reservations" than in the League of Nations. Do not lean too heavily upon it. First try something else. Perhaps a no-trump. If not, wriggle around a little bit, sigh, hesitate, look sternly at your partner, or even kick him in the shin—in fact, do most anything rather than rush in blindly where angels fear to tread.

Trump Management.

Because declarer usually has most of the trumps, "trump management" is an important part of his game. Equally important are the plays with which the defenders make the best use of the small number of trumps they hold. Notice in this hand how skillfully East promotes a trump trick for his partner:

NORTH		EAST
♠ 8 4 2		♠ K 5
♥ 9 8 7 6 3		♥ Q 4
♦ 9		♦ J 10 8 1

The bidding, both sides vulnerable:
Pass 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠
Pass 3 ♠ Pass 3 ♥
Pass 4 ♠ (Final bid)

Opening lead, ♠ ace by West.
West chose his best lead: South could have made four-odd with a heart opening and five-odd with a diamond or club opening. On the spade ace East, knowing that West would not have opened the ace from a weak suit, dropped the king. By this play he avoided blocking the suit on the second round. West continued with the queen and jack. Now, although neither declarer nor dummy had a spade, he led the spade nine. Dummy discarded a club and East trumped with the queen of hearts. Being unguarded it would not have won a trick in any case, and by using it at this time East gained a trick for his side. If South overruled the queen with the heart king or ace, West would eventually win the setting trick with the heart jack.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: My partner bid three spades and an opponent bid three no-trump, which my partner doubled. Everyone passed and it was my turn to lead. I held six clubs, headed by the ace and queen, and only one spade, the four spot. Should I have led a club or a spade?

Answer: Your partner expected you to lead a spade and doubled in the expectation of defeating the contract after a spade opening lead. Therefore you should have led a spade. Had he not doubled, the fourth best club would have been a good lead.

ment concluded the direct examination of Birch.

During cross-examination of Cummins the defense was stopped by the court from interrogating the witness as to his authority to act for the company in the payment of the alleged "rebate."

Wilkinson fought vigorously for the right to propound questions to Cummins to "determine whether or not the legal title" to a batch of bonds Cummins had previously testified were turned over to Shushan under provisions of the agreement "ever passed to the defendant."

Sustaining a government objection, Judge Barrett said:

"Certainly as I now see it, the case depends on what it is proven Mr. Shushan received over and above what he made income tax returns for, and whether or not that was willfully received."

"The fact that Mr. Shushan may have been violating his duty by receiving something in the nature of gratification for the president of this company for whatever reason, became a party to that offense, has no bearing on this case. That is part of some other offense that is not being inquired into here."

'G-MEN' BEGIN PROBE OF MAE WEST THREATS

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Government agents tonight took over investigation of the supposed $1,000 extortion plot against Mae West of the films.

G-men assumed charge after District Attorney Brown Fitts explained that they hadn't been called in when the first of six extortion notes, signed cryptically "acid burns," was received by the actress September 2.

Four men questioned by district attorney's investigators, were released, including George Janios, studios publicity worker, who last Monday night picked up the wallet which had been set by Miss West and authorities as a trap for the supposed extortionists.

TALMADGE PROMISES HE'LL WELCOME F.D.R.

chairman on arrangements, went forward with his work yesterday at celebration headquarters in the 101 Marietta Street building.

Mr. Cocke said he expected to name committees to take charge of the various phases of the program. He was unable to say when the committees' personnel will be ready for publication.

Meanwhile three more leading Georgia cities declared holidays for the Roosevelt homecoming celebration. These are College Park, Louisville and Dalton.

Introduced by Councilman T. M. Kener, the city council of College Park adopted a resolution proclaiming the holiday and it has been signed by Mayor E. D. Barrett.

College Park Resolution.

"Whereas, our President, Franklin D. Roosevelt, will soon return to Georgia, 'his other home,' to spend some days of rest among his 'home-folks'; and

"Whereas, arrangements are being made for the appropriate celebration of this occasion;

"Be it resolved by mayor and council of the city of College Park that the city of College Park count it a privilege to join with her sister municipalities, and the people of the state, in cordial homecoming greetings and a hearty welcome to our President, and sincere good wishes to him for an enjoyable sojourn in our midst;

"Resolved further, that the coming day of our President is hereby declared a public holiday in our city, and all of our citizens are requested so to observe it in the conduct of their business and other affairs."

Two Others Join List.

Mayor R. L. Beilke, of Louisville, yesterday announced that his city council had unanimously adopted a resolution declaring the holiday.

Mayor G. H. Moore, of Dalton, notified Mr. Cocke that by unanimous action of the council of his city a holiday had been declared.

Mrs. Lamar Rutherford announced yesterday that the "Friends of Roosevelt Club," an organization which she heads, would meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Henry Grady hotel. She added her organization was planning to celebrate the fifth anniversary of the organization of the "Roosevelt-for-President" Clubs in Georgia on November 2.

DELEGATION TO TAKE STUMP FOR ROOSEVELT IF NEEDED.

By ROBERT BUNNELLE.

Governor Eugene Talmadge, foe of the national administration, faces a fight from members of the Georgia congressional delegation if he tries to win the state's votes away from President Roosevelt in 1936.

Mentioned as a possible contestant for the democratic presidential nomination against Mr. Roosevelt, Talmadge now is in the north pursuing his campaign against the President.

The Georgia delegation may plain its position on the Talmadge-Roosevelt issue Tuesday at a meeting here at which it pledged support to the President and expressed the conviction he would be renominated and re-elected.

Expressions of Loyalty.

After the meeting, at which the delegation laid plans for a week-long celebration for the President when he speaks here Thanksgiving week, individual members went even farther in their expression of loyalty to Mr. Roosevelt.

Richard B. Russell Jr., Georgia's junior senator, expressing belief that the President will be re-elected, said he would support Mr. Roosevelt openly and actively if the need arises in this state. He said, however, that he felt assured of the President's success.

The state may name its delegates to the national democratic convention through a presidential preference primary or through its executive committee which Talmadge controls. The latter method has not been used in years.

Senator Walter F. George, who presided at the meeting here at which Talmadge was left off the program for the homecoming welcome to the President, said he believed no campaign would be needed in behalf of Mr. Roosevelt in Georgia, because of widespread support manifest for him.

Expects "No Contest."

Congressman Emmett Owen, of Griffin, was of the opinion, he said, that there would be "no contest" in this state. "All over the state," he said, "there has been a great uprising of the people in favor of Franklin D. Roosevelt. I do not believe they will soon forget what he has done for them."

Congressman Braswell Deen, of Alma, also predicted Mr. Roosevelt's re-election. He said he believed the full delegation would fight actively for the President's renomination in case of issue in this state.

Similar views were expressed by Congressman Robert Ranspeck, of Atlanta, who voiced a doubt that an active campaign in behalf of the President in Georgia would be necessary. Congressman Hugh Peterson, of Albany, also said he believed the President would be victorious.

supreme court on the grounds that his constitutional rights were invaded at the trial.

An appeal to the court of pardon of New Jersey to commute the death sentence to one of life imprisonment; and

3. An appeal to Justice Trenchard for a new trial on the grounds that new and surprisingly important evidence has been unearthed since his conviction.

Late today, Egbert Rosecrans, defense counsel, said the case probably will be appealed to the supreme court. Fisher recently said new evidence had been uncovered a circumstance which might merit a new trial. Rosecrans, however, said:

"I don't believe we have grounds now for a new trial. We can go to the supreme court, however, because a ruling was made on the constitutional questions raised."

"We can also go before the board of pardon, but I think we will appeal to the supreme court."

Conference in Prospect.

Rosecrans said he will confer this week with Fisher and Frederick A. Pope, his defense attorney.

The court of pardons can commute a sentence to life imprisonment, but does so rarely.

Sixteen members of the full court were on the bench when the decision was announced, but Justice Trenchard and two new lay judges had no voice in the case. Trenchard, as trial judge, was automatically barred from the deliberations of the other judges were appointed after the appeal on June 20.

The opinion was written by Supreme Court Justice Charles W. Parker, 73-year-old member of the court. It was nearly 14,000 words in extent and was preceded by a syllabus, noting briefly the 16 points raised by the defense.

"Our conclusion," the opinion read, "is that the verdict is only not contrary to the weight of the evidence, but one to which the evidence inescapably led."

Three Points Cited.

"From three different and in the main, unrelated sources, the proofs point unerringly to guilt, viz: (a) Possession and use of the ransom money; (b) the handling of the ransom notes; and (c) the word used in the construction of the ladder."

Speaking of the $14,600 ransom money, in Hauptmann's case, in the Bronx, the address and telephone number of Dr. John F. Condon, the "Jafski" of the ransom negotiations, written on a board in the closet of Hauptmann's home, the court said, was preceded by a syllabus, noting briefly the 16 points raised by the defense.

"The explanation of the source of this money offered by defendant was incredible and we find not the slightest evidence to corroborate it. The defendant's handling of the money makes clear his guilty connection with the enterprise. He was without funds before the payment of the ransom money, and in comparative poverty thereafter. The money was plainly preposterous, the court held."

"After the payment of the money he refrained from work entirely and speculated in Wall Street on a comparatively large scale. His actions thereafter are persuasive of guilt."

Bruno's Alibi.

Hauptmann's alibi, that the money was in a shoe box left in his care by Isidore Fisch, his business partner who later died in Germany, was plainly preposterous, the court held.

"It is clear his long-forgotten prospect of evidence long before he says he found the money claimed to have been left by Fisch," the opinion said. "It is inconceivable that Fisch, if he had this money, would have left it in the defendant's custody in the manner claimed, particularly when he was planning to leave for Germany of what seemed to be his last trip. He died afflicted with tuberculosis and died shortly after returning to his homeland."

"From the foregoing it is deductible, to a moral certainty beyond a reasonable doubt, that he collected the ransom money, and was therefore the kidnaper."

of civil service but was against that bill.

Martin Refutes Charges.

All 13 grand jurors canceled check paid to the widow of Henry M. Wood, former commission clerk, in repayment of a personal loan. This was not related to the case.

There was no connection with this charge against his son made by Johnson, Fuller, of the Anthony Company, brought records of a ruling was made on the constitutional questions raised.

"We can also go before the board of pardon, but I think we will appeal to the supreme court."

Late today, Egbert Rosecrans, defense counsel, said the case probably will be appealed to the supreme court. Fisher recently said new evidence had been uncovered a circumstance which might merit a new trial. Rosecrans, however, said:

Phi Kappa Phi scholarship cup for the highest scholastic record in the senior class. Every year was the same.

He won the freshman scholarship cup and President M. L. Brittain's gold "T" for juniors. Last June Witchee received his M. A. degree in physics at Emory University.

Witchee is a member of Phi Kappa Sigma, social fraternity. He has countless friends on both the Tech and Emory campuses and is not classed by colleagues as a "geek." A student who two years ago was in a biology class with Witchee at Georgia Tech said yesterday he would often hear the blind boy speak to his classmates by name as they entered the classroom. Witchee recognized them by their manner of walking.

For his life's work, Witchee expects to do research work in mathematical physics, his father, R. C. Witchee, of 949 Williams Mills road, said last night. His son will probably study at Columbia for two or three years, Mr. Witchee said.

Full Text of Syllabus In Hauptmann Case

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Here is the text of the syllabus of the opinion of the court of errors and appeals upholding the conviction of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for the kidnap murder of Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr.

The syllabus effectively tells what the opinion says. It is intended as a sort of index of the points on which the court dwells at length in the body of its opinion.

The syllabus:

1. The summing up for the state of the trial of this case held not to be such as to bar application of the rule that in the absence of objection and motion to expunge offensive matter no ground for review is created.

2. The cross-examination of defendant similarly held not to amount to legal error in the absence of objection.

3. The opening of the trial by the state of the details of the crime between the opening and closing of the state's case held not harmful to defendant, as the case was submitted by the court to the jury on the former theory alone, and the defense on the facts being an alibi.

4. Claim of the violation of the fourteenth amendment to the federal constitution held to be without merit.

5. There being evidence to show that a fatal stroke was inflicted in Hunterdon county, the indictment was properly found, and the trial had, in that county, even though death may have occurred in another county.

Held Not Erroneous.

6. A charge basing guilt of murder in the first degree on elements including those of common law burglary in the second degree, and that the homicide was committed held not erroneous though referring to a statute also including the elements of common law burglary without mentioning that crime in the text thereof.

7. The stealing of a child and its night dress from its home, followed by the surrender of the night dress merely as proof that the kidnaper had the child and to induce negotiations for its ransom, held to be indicative of an intent to commit larceny and to constitute that crime.

8. The failure to justify the jury in finding that the burglary, if committed, was not complete at the time of the homicide.

9. Murder may be committed in the perpetration of a burglary though the burglary as such may be complete for purposes of prosecution, if the homicide be committed within the res gestae of the felony.

Duty of Court.

10. It is always the right, and often the duty, of a trial judge to comment on the evidence, and give the jury his impressions of its weight and value, and such comment is not assigned error for error so long as the ultimate decision on disputed facts is plainly left to the jury.

11. The charge of circumstantial evidence held free from error when read in its entirety.

12. The court properly refused to charge that the opinion of experts in handwriting, based on mere comparison, "must be esteemed proof of low degree."

Other requests on the first point also held properly refused, and the comments of the court on the expert evidence held proper.

Free From Errors.

13. Charge of reasonable doubt held free from errors.

14. Other requests to charge, held properly refused, unfounded in law, or not justified by the evidence.

15. The testimony of the witness Tartell was properly excluded, as not proper impeachment of other testimony.

16. Objection to Kelly testimony as a conclusion held ill founded after the witness had returned to Ohio, held too late.

17. The ladder was properly admitted in evidence.

18. Verdict not against weight of evidence.

19. No legal error arose from (a) presence of dead child's father in court; (b) of other prominent persons not connected with the case; (c) or from demonstrations of laughter and applause by spectators, rebuked by the court; (d) or from the movements of messengers and clerks; (e) or from press reports and radio broadcasts, particularly in the absence of objection during the trial.

20. The arrangements for care and sequestration of the jur were reasonably adequate.

21. It was not error (a) to let the jur see a magnifying glass (b) to furnish them food under the direction of the court, or (c) to advise them in the evening that the jur was going home for the night at a stated hour.

The opinion of the court was delivered by Parker, J.

Scrub Runs 80 Yards Against Tech; Georgia Looks Good

GIBSON SWEEPS OVER LEFT END FOR TOUCHDOWN

Jackets Show Weakness on Pass Defense in Scrimmage.

By Jack Troy.

Georgia Tech's variety was given another idea of what to expect from Kentucky's Bob Davis at Lexington Saturday when Bill Gibson, freshman back running for the Gray Devils, cut back around the weak side end yesterday and ran 80 yards for a touchdown on the second play of the scrimmage.

Gibson, running right halfback, corresponding with Davis' position on the Wildcat eleven, shifted right, cut back to take the ball and ran right smack around the weak side end protected by his big brother, Hoot Gibson.

As Gibson ran out in the clear, he sidestepped Dutch Konekman, then stiff-armed Scrappy Edwards and was on his way to the touchdown, leaving, as someone said, chaos in his wake.

GRAY DEVILS STEP.
For the second straight day the Gray Devils, running Kentucky plays, turned the Jackets every way but loose. They completed passes and made gains off tackle and around the ends.

And so it speaks well of the efficiency of the Tech coaches, Roy MacArthur and Dave Wilcox, who scouted the Wildcats and then taught the formations to the Gray Devils.

The Gray Devils really are functioning like a smooth Notre Dame team on offense. And the Jackets somehow have been bewildered by the fluency, so to speak, of the attack that has been tossed at them.

BETTER ON OFFENSE.
The variety made a better showing on offense in the long scrimmage, but this did not cheer the coaches since a strong defense must be shown to stop such running backs as Davis, right half, and Bert Johnson, left half.

Then, too, the Jackets are highly concerned about kicking in the Kentucky game. On the face of it, Kentucky will outkick and probably outpass Tech.

Coach W. A. Alexander might like to start Scrappy Edwards in the game, but Lawrence Hays surely would have to be in there for his kicking, if nothing else.

NEED KICKING.
Dutch Konekman, hard-running sophomore back, is a punter. But he kicks long spirals that likely as not will go right into the hands of the safety man.

And a fellow like Johnson, of Kentucky, who weighs about 160 and is very fast and shifty, would take a low kick like that and go to town, so to speak.

There will be no more scrimmaging for the Jackets. Those of the past two days have been very intensive.

Coach Alexander casually remarked that "we actually accomplish more work when we don't scrimmage."

CONCENTRATED.
And Mit Fitzsimmons, who was standing around waiting to get a rub-down, responded: "I guess that's so, but those scrimmages are pretty concentrated."

So far as physical condition is concerned, the Jacket players are ready for the first big test of the season. And player spirit is excellent.

But a lot of work remains in dummy formations against Kentucky plays. A rigid pass defense is needed and, likewise, a bit of tightening at the terminals.

Chances are there will be no change in the starting lineup except, of course, the return of Captain Lefty Eubanks to right tackle. Bud Lindsay may go back to his regular place at left tackle.

Reserve strength will play a large part Saturday and, it may be, that Tech is a little better off in this respect than at the start of the season.

LaGrange Will Play Athens Team Friday

LAGRANGE, Ga., Oct. 9.—LaGrange High school, undefeated eleven from Athens High Friday night in LaGrange.

Extensive preparations are being made to entertain the visitors with decorated stores, parades and dances. Coach Johnson is pushing his field work to meet the experienced eleven from the Classic City.

The rivalry that has existed for a decade makes the game one of the high points on the local menu each season.

LaGrange has a green team which is improving from week to week.

Trainers, Jockeys Barred for Life

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Four trainers and three jockeys were ruled off the turf for life by the Illinois Racing Commission today on charges of possessing and using batteries on horses in three races at the Fairmount race track near Collinsville, Ill., last Friday.

Pride of Buckhead and a Few Young Admirers - - - L. S. U. Coaches Plot for Manhattan Game Here

Hugh Casey, pride of Buckhead, and a relief pitcher for the Chicago Cubs during the past season, was snapped yesterday by George Cornett, Constitution photographer, as Casey read The Constitution while surrounded by a group of young admirers who had chocolate sodas on the house at Wender and Roberts drug store in Buckhead. The kids couldn't have had a bigger time if the circus had come to town.

Casey said Owner Wrigley of the Cubs is his idea of a big league owner. Wrigley raised salaries of several players during the season regardless of the stipulated salary on their contracts. In the second picture, also shot by Cornett, L. S. U. coaches are shown with key players laying out a plan of attack to be used against Manhattan Saturday in New York. The bayou Tigers worked out at Grant field and left late in the afternoon for Washington, where another workout will be held today prior to the squad's arrival in New York. The group above includes, left to right, kneeling, Tinsley, end; Seago, quarterback; Mickal, halfback; Crass, back, and Rukas, tackle; standing, Ben Ennis, Mike Chambers, Hunt, Nelson and Bernie Moore, coaches of the Tigers, who are considered among the favored conference elevens.

HARTMAN, BOND, CAUSEY SCORE IN SCRIMMAGE

Bulldogs Show Plenty of Power; Planning Big Week-End.

By Felton Gordon.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 9.—Previously displaying power against an opposing team of freshmen, Georgia's varsity told another story when pitted against a band of red devils in a stiff scrimmage this afternoon.

Placed on defense against the scrubs to open the skirmish, the Georgia line held steadfastly. Never were the bulldogs able to gain to a great extent. Several plays were run which failed to net gains.

It was the same story on offense, with the freshmen putting up a poor battle. Some five or six touchdowns were made by the varsity squad of backs. However, when the red devils lined up against the varsity they presented a strong front, limiting the Georgia betters a hard-earned two or three scores.

STARTING LINEUP.

The starting lineup for the varsity was Wagon and Harrold, ends; Shi and Harman, tackles; Hall and Johnson, guards; McKnight, center; Hartman, fullback; Bond and Minot, halfbacks; Treadway, quarterback. Several substitutions were made during the afternoon. This team started the scrimmage on defense, then rested, and later came back in on offense.

Starring on offense, Bill Hartman rang up three touchdowns. Bond scored two. Causey tallied three. Minot one and Jones one. Several long runs were made in gathering the scores.

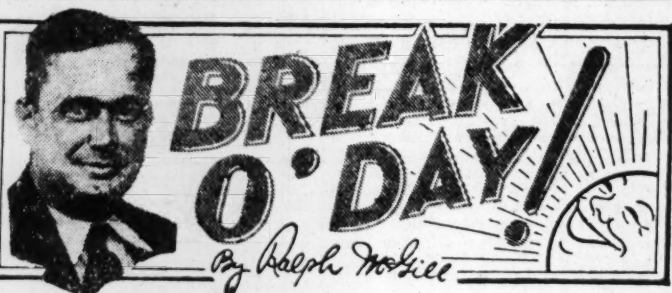

Meanwhile, plans for big week-end are in progress. Word has been received that Furman University's 45-piece band will make the trip. A large crowd of supporters are expected to accompany the Furman squad, in high hopes of victory.

Ticket prices for the game will be $2 for reserved seats and $1 for general admission. Game time will be 3 o'clock, E. S. T. Tickets may be purchased in Atlanta from "Yank" Ludwig, former Georgia player, at Rich's.

TOUGH GAME SATURDAY.

The game Saturday is expected to demand everything Georgia has in the way of punting. Roy Stevens, punter de luxe, for the South Carolina team, was a monkey wrench in the Georgia machine last year. The Bulldogs finally won, but his kicking kept their backs to the wall, so to speak. One of his boots went 79 yards. Another, heavier, failed to register and enabled Georgia to get in scoring.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 9.—I do hope and trust that someone will take Mr. Harry Mehre, the well-known law student and coach, and introduce him to his football team. Because today your correspondent asked Mr. Mehre what he thought about his football team and he said, "I do not know my football team."

"Are you filing a general demurrer to the question?" asked your correspondent, helping himself to a square of beef, we being at lunch at the time.

"I am not fooling," said Mr. Mehre, "I do not know my team as yet."

Of course, it develops that what Mr. Mehre means is that this team has come along through two games with enough sophomores showing up so well that it is impossible to name all the personnel of his No. 1 football team. In past years he has known this by the time spring practice was done. But here it is late autumn, with the leaves down and the freshmen students already acting like seniors, and Mr. Mehre is as yet undetermined as to the status quo of his football team.

This may be a good thing. Because it may mean the 1935 eleven will all of a sudden find itself and go out and beat the ears back on a lot of football teams it isn't supposed to stop. But, on the other hand, it may not be such a good idea. Because if Mr. Mehre is unable to know his team all year, it won't be so good. But as for that, he thinks he will meet the boys Saturday afternoon. The Furman game is to be played at that time and Furman has a Sunday defense and a very good offense. Enough to make it a football game and not a parade for all the backs which Mr. Mehre has on hand.

I rather like this team. It may be a better team than we imagine.

UNITS AND NOT INDIVIDUALS.

It seems to your reporter, but lately escaped from the Oklahoma City Indians, that the University of Georgia football team is more of a unit this year, especially as regards the backfield, than at any time in the past three seasons.

In past years a great deal of hope was pinned on one back. The attack was built around him and coaches and students of Georgia sat around during the game and prayed he wouldn't be hurt. While the rival outfits sat around and prayed he would.

But this year Al Minot, always a good handy sort of man to have around, comes into his own, so to speak, and is one of the best backs in our set. And John Bond, as a senior, is a polished article of football attack. Back of them are Glenn Johnson, Andy Roddenberry, Alf Anderson, Paul Causey and another back or so.

Alf Anderson is out with a fractured arm just now, but he will be back.

At fullback there is Maurice Green, Bill Hartman

GIANTS OF TURF MAY HAVE RACE

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Oct. 9.—(UP)—Prospects brightened tonight for one of the greatest match races in turf history—bringing together two mighty four-year-olds, Discovery and Cavalcade—when Trainer Bob Smith notified Narragansett Park officials that he believed Cavalcade could be brought into condition for the duel.

Billy Ames, director of publicity at the park, was elated at Smith's confidence, because of the general skepticism which greeted today's announcement of the proposed match race on November 6.

Most track followers doubted Mrs. Isobel Dodge Sloan's Cavalcade could be conditioned in time for the mile and three-sixteenths test, for which the Narragansett Park president, Walter E. O'Hara, has offered a prize of $50,000—making it the richest race in New England history.

AMERICAN CAN SCOTT WINNER

American Can defeated Whittier Mills, 9 to 0, Wednesday afternoon in a playoff game to capture the Southern Railway title. The game was played at Glenn field.

Walker and Clonts hit best for the winners. Walker connected for three hits in four times at bat, and Clonts got a triple.

The American Can team will play Southern Railway at Almond park Saturday afternoon in the city amateur series.

Ruff Meets Almand On East Point Card

Two well-known Atlanta wrestlers, Tiny Ruff and Son Almand, will settle an old account at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the East Point city auditorium in the feature of the regular weekly wrestling card. It will be a no time limit, best-two-out-of-three-falls match, the winner to take all.

In the semi-final, a one-hour, two-out-of-three-falls match, Ambrose Cole, the Birmingham Terror, meets Dick Burford, of Gainesville, Ga. Cole and Burford also are out to square accounts of a former match.

Charlie Harbin and Dink Almand will open the program in a 30-minute preliminary.

The East Point auditorium will be well heated and there will be plenty of parking space for patrons. Popular prices will prevail.

Darlington Opens New Lighted Field

ROME, Ga., Oct. 9.—The Darlington school, of Rome, will dedicate its new lighted football field Friday night, their opponent for the opening game being Riverside Academy, of Gainesville.

Preparations are being made to take care of four or five thousand fans who are expected for this first night game in this section.

Darlington is coached by "Son" Sammons and is expected to have a team worthy of the tradition of a school which has turned out such boys as the Tharpes and Hacketts of Tech; Crawford and Gilbert, of Auburn; Alf Anderson, of Georgia; Williams, of Davidson, and dozens of others at colleges of other sections. Riverside is said to be coming along fast, having won their first three games, last week taking Tech High.

Santell, Americus Feature Mat Card

Fans who like their wrestling rough will get their share of it tonight at the Avondale arena.

The feature attraction will bring together Young Americus, of Baltimore, and Joe Santell, St. Louis, the "Human Arrow," in a one-hour, two-out-of-three-falls match.

"Scotty" Sullivan, a newcomer, who hails from Kansas City, will make his initial start here tonight in the semi-windup match. He will meet Red Dugan, Chattanooga grappler, in another one-hour, three-falls match.

Hugh Welch and Pat O'Brien will start hostilities promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

Hugh Casey Returns Wealthier and Heavier Atlanta Boy Has Praise for Cubs and Wrigley; L. S. U. Tigers Practice Here.

By Jack Troy.

Oh, what a day was yesterday, the song writer once said, for yesterday brought me you. Well, yesterday was quite a day, bringing as it did, L. S. U. to Grant field for a workout and Hugh Casey, the pride of Buckhead, back home for the winter.

Casey, 21-year-old prize of the Chicago Cubs, was encountered in the Wender & Roberts drug store in Buckhead surrounded by a group of young admirers.

It was a double treat for the kids because the management gave them all a soda. And so the kids stood there and sipped their sodas, asking their idol questions, and generally had as big a time as if the circus had come to town.

Young Hugh Casey, who has picked up more than 25 pounds, now weighing close to 200 stripped, said that he would like to play his entire career with the Cubs.

Casey, who will celebrate his twenty-second birthday on Monday, received, in addition to his regular salary, a $4,000 cut out of the World Series. Then, too, Owner Wrigley is planning to give each member of the squad a bonus of $1,000 for a Christmas present.

All of this is very good earning capacity, indeed, for a young man playing with a ball club in his first year of voting age.

SAW RELIEF.

Casey was the only man on the Cubs staff who didn't start a game during the season. But he was used as a relief pitcher on several occasions. Once during the season he struck out the mighty Bill Terry, of the Giants, on three pitched balls.

Casey didn't have much of a chance to break into the starting staff of pitchers, including as it did Lon Warneke, Bill Lee, Larry French and Charlie I. not. Then, too, there were Roy Henshaw and Tex Carlton as the spot pitchers.

But Casey is satisfied that he got as much work as he did. "I think we have the greatest team in baseball and the greatest manager in Charlie Grimm. Wrigley, I think, is one of the fairest owners. It's a great thing to feel satisfied. I would be content to play my entire career with the Cubs."

TIGER FANS LOYAL.
Speaking of the celebration in Detroit, "ter the Tigers had won the deciding game on Goose Goslin's home run, Casey said he had never seen such a wild mob of fans. "We couldn't get out of the hotel," he said. "We waited for almost an hour before we could get into the stadium."

Casey lauded the Detroit fans. "They really do support a ball club. And so for their sake I think I am glad the Tigers won, although I naturally think that if the Cubs were the better ball club, you always do when you play through the year with the same bunch of fellows."

Young Hugh Casey was glad to be back. He has some fine bird dogs and plans to spend the winter in the field. Next year he returns to the wars with the youngest team in baseball and may have a chance to start some games. The Cubs are favorites to repeat in the National league race next year.

W. L. Gross, W. M. Winder and Dr. J. M. Roberts were three outstanding Cub fans throughout the season.

Out at Grant field, Coach Bernie Moore and his staff, including old Mike Chabers, former Tech trainer, supervised a long workout of the husky Tiger squad.

BEATEN BY RICE.
The Tigers hopped right into the schedule against Rice, one of the strongest teams in the nation, and suffered a 10-7 setback. Observers claimed, however, that had not one touchdown been called back and had the game gone just a bit longer, L. S. U. would have won.

The Bayou Tigers came back last week to administer a round lacing to Texas, one of the strongest teams in the southwest.

Ben Ennis, end coach of the 'Tigers, is afraid that tradition will prevent Rice from coming through its schedule undefeated. "I think Rice has the team to do it, but tradition has never allowed a team in the southwest to come through undefeated or untied."

The L. S. U. squad left late yesterday afternoon for Washington, where another stopover will be observed for
